Tennessee Legislative Commission and the President—Indian Disturbance in Arkansas—First Appointment of Supervisor.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON CITY, Sept. 11, 1868.

TENNESSEE AFFAIRS.

This morning the Tennessee Legislative Committee had an interview with the President by formal appointment. It continued more than one hour. As the reporters for the press were excluded, no particulars could be ascertained additional to the fact that the Chairman, Mr. Weisner, read to the President an address they had prepared since their arrival in Washington, in which they set forth a series of grievances, based on the report of outrages, &c., recently made to the Legislature of Tennessee. They say the statements therein are sustained by proofs. They add: "In behalf of our respective Houses we urge you to send as early as possible, the sooner the better, sufficient federal force to the State to aid the civil authorities and act with them in suppressing wrongs, in bringing to trial guilty parties, and in giving assurance to all that the laws will be enforced, crime punished and protection extended to such officers and citizens as may attempt to execute the laws or to prosecute for their violation. The Legislature of Tennessee in sending us to make this request, did so on the ground that she is part of the great American Union, contributing to the support of the common Government, enjoying its benefits and blessings, and that they were asking of the Government of the United States that which they believe they had a right under the Constitution to expect."

Signed by Wm. H. Weisner, on the part of the Senate, Thomas A. Hamilton and J. H. Agee on the part of the House.

The President gave his views, when the parties entered into conversation, fully canvassing the political affairs of Tennessee. After the Commissioners took leave of the President they were interrogated by the reporters as to what had taken place, but they replied that from what was said by the President they were not at liberty to communicate, further than that they were received kindly and the interview was satisfactory as far as it went. There was no definite conclusion reached. The Commissioners are to have another interview with the President. They will themselves telegraph to the Tennessee Legislature the result of their mission.

INDIAN AFFAIRS.

The acting Commissioner of Indian Affairs this morning received a report from Superintendent Wynkoop, giving an account of the difficulty which occurred on Sunday, August 9th, between the soldiers at Fort Sera, in Arkansas, and a party of Kiowa Indians. The difficulty originated by two young Kiowas, who were intoxicated, riding through a white man's camp in a disorderly manner, when they were fired on and one of them seriously wounded. The Indians reported to their band of having been fired on, and the Kiowas went to the fort in battle array; but a difficulty was then prevented by the interference of a friendly Chief. In the afternoon of the same day a wagon master arrived at the fort reporting that his train had been robbed by the Kiowas. A detachment of troops was sent out to the Kiowas' camp, and upon their arrival the Indian women and children jumped into the river to swim to the opposite bank. The Indians formed in line, when the wagon master, becoming frightened, confessed he had given the merchandise to the Indians. This terminated the appearance of hostilities, and after some talk peace was arranged. Agent Wynkoop reports these Indians generally disposed to be friendly.

CONGRESSIONAL SESSION.

The opinion of a majority of the Congressmen who have been heard from on the subject seems at present to be that a quorum should be present on the 21st for the purpose of taking another recess.

SUPERVISOR APPOINTED.

The Secretary of the Treasury to-day appointed Col. Jas. Moode Supervisor of Internal Revenue for the district of Missouri, the first appointment under the new law.

HAD AN INTERVIEW.

Mr. Edward Thornton, British Minister, called at the White House this morning and had a short interview with the President.

STOREKEEPER APPOINTED.

Alvin Barnes has been appointed storekeeper of Internal Revenue at Mt. Sterling, Kentucky.

THE INDIANS,

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 11.—Special from Fort Wallace, Kansas, says: About one hundred Cheyennes appeared within two miles of Sheridan, Kansas, about daybreak this morning, a small portion of whom dashed into the south portion of the town within three hundred yards of the railroad depot, stole one horse, and then joined the main body. All moved off together in the direction of Butler, within a mile and a half of Sheridan, where they captured several coach teams and killed three men. They then moved north of the track and left in a northeast direction, carrying off fifty head of cattle and six horses. Two scouts sent here by the Governor of Colorado arrived yesterday. They report the Indians at all the settlements southeast of Denver. The settlers were suffering very much. Over five hundred head of stock were carried off the past week, and twenty or more settlers were killed and scalped. The Denver coach which arrived this afternoon, having been delayed by the Indians, was driven back to Big Timbers yesterday afternoon. The Indians are reported to be from two to three hundred strong at Sand Creek, three miles from Big Timber.

Advices from Fort Lyon of the 9th inst. say that Gen. Pearson and a company of cavalry fought two miles out on the 8th, killing four Indians and losing two soldiers killed and two wounded.

Oil Refinery and Tannery at Cleveland Burned.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CLEVELAND, September 11.—Holster's oil refinery, on Commercial street, was burned this morning. A man named Chas. Basch was badly burned and another, unknown, is reported killed. Loss $10,000.

Hankey's tannery was also burned. The contents were saved. Fire Company No. 9, from Pittsburgh here, returning from Sandusky, did excellent work at the fire.

PHILADELPHIA.

Plundering at Bridesburg Arsenal—The Child Murderer not yet Caught.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, September 11.—Within the last month large quantities of pig lead have been missing from the United States Arsenal at Bridesburg. Since Monday an extra sentry has been detailed to guard the lead pile. Last evening three yawl boats were rowed up Frankford creek by about a dozen men who pulled the boats ashore at the blacksmith shop wharf. Six or seven of the number immediately started for the lead pile.

The sentry called on them to halt. They paid no attention to it. He then fired, but the party did not halt. Major Beebe, in command at the Arsenal, fired at the men, who by this time had become frightened and ran towards their boats. They were again ordered to halt and failing to do so the sentry and Major both fired. The fugitives plunged into the Creek and all reached the opposite shore except two, one of whom was shot and sank immediately and the other made captive. A third man was badly wounded, but managed to escape.

No clue has yet been obtained to the murderer of Mary Marman. Many suspicious characters have been arrested by the police, but were discharged. The inquest commenced this morning, and the physicians testified that death was caused by strangulation, not by drowning. The deceased had been dead twenty-four hours when discovered, but there is no evidence that the body had been in the water that length of time.

CHICAGO.

Report of Survivors of the Recent Lake Disaster.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHICAGO, September 11.—Dispatches from St. Josephs, Michigan, this evening, report the arrival there of Captain Brown, of the Hippocampus, and fourteen other survivors of the wreck. They report that a squall struck the vessel about three o'clock on Tuesday morning, and she went down almost instantly. The survivors were in water thirty-five hours and were picked up by a sail vessel and carried to Saugatuck, a few miles from St. Josephs. The names of the saved are as follows: Capt. Brown, John P. Brown, Clerk, Chas. Russell, Steward, Charles Morrison, Wheelsman, and six deck hands. Passengers: Joseph Cooley, E. N. Hatch, Jas. Riford, Jas. Kimball and Geo. Fuller.

The names of the lost as far as ascertained are as follows: Passengers—John Schrlin, A. P. Whitney, of Chicago, M. K. Hathaway, Wm. Vaugham, Alvin Palmer, Jas Marple, Alvin Burridge, J. K. Burridge; crew—Robert Richardson, mate, Eugene Curtis and Wm. Brown, engineers, David Taylor, fireman, and six deck hands.

Negro Eligibility in the Georgia Legislature.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ATLANTA, Sept. 11.—The Senate passed a resolution to-day giving negroes one hour to make their defence on the question of eligibility, and other members participating thirty minutes. The day was consumed in the discussion. The impression is the negroes will be declared ineligible by a small majority.

London Times on the Chinese Treaty—American Minister—Estates Confiscated in Hungary—Pledge of Peace by Prussia—Reduction of the Army.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ENGLAND.

LONDON, September 11.—The Times has another long article on the treaty recently concluded between the United States and China. The article, which is nearly three columns long, is mainly devoted to a discussion of the views advanced by the other metropolitan journals. The writer reviews the course of British policy in China, which he characterizes as one of peace, submitting to frequent aggression, disregard of treaties, fraud, ill-faith and evasion until leniency is interpreted at Pekin as fear. Chinese diplomacy is seemingly master of the situation. They laugh the English treaties to scorn and jockey her into quelling the Taepings. Now they give her the go by as the principal leading power in foreign policy. They send a mission to defer indefinitely the claims of the treaty of Tien Isin, opening the Empire and admitting civilization. They must be told if they want war, that while England desires peace, actual treaties must be enforced, and no step further will be taken until that is done. Then they will submit and be at peace. China will not be the theatre of war between foreign powers unless as the result of American policy. The article ends with the assertion that only the rulers of China cling to electing to the exclusion of the people, who want free intercourse, and it is the duty of England to sustain the wish of the people against the rulers.

Mr. Johnston, the American Minister, formally waited on Lord Stanley on the 9th. He will submit his credentials to the Queen on Monday next.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., September 11.—The Kentucky State Fair, held here this week, terminates to-morrow. The attendance has been unprecedentedly large.

LOCAL POLITICS.

Large Republican Meeting in Allegheny—Enthusiastic Rally of Voters—Speeches of Messrs. Purviance, King, Blakely and Graham.

The Union Republican voters of the Fifth and Sixth wards, Allegheny, rallied in large numbers last evening on the corner of Beaver avenue and Locust street, to manifest their interest in and devotion to the great cause of law and order, whose leaders are Grant and Colfax.

The German brass band and the McClure township Glee Club, led by Prof. David Jones, at intervals discoursed some soul-stirring and patriotic strains, which added considerably to the enthusiasm on the occasion. The stand, beautifully decorated with the stars and stripes and brilliantly illuminated, presented a very neat and attractive appearance.

At half past seven o'clock an organization was effected by the election of the following officers:

President—B. A. Sampson.

Vice Presidents—W. F. Trimble, Robert Lea, Thomas Harper, Henry McCune, Geo. W. Reynolds, James Wilkins.

Secretaries—John C. Harper, J. H. Grenet, and reporters of the Republican press.

The President, after returning his thanks for the honor conferred upon him, introduced, as the first speaker, S. A. Purviance, Esq. Mr. Purviance made an address of some length, dwelling upon the records of both parties during the past, and showing that in all the relations of good government, whether local, political or otherwise, the nation had made greater advancement under Republican administration than at any other period. On the other hand, under Democratic rule the Government became demoralized, so much so that when they retired from power the Treasury was bankrupt, the navy scattered, the army without discipline, and all the concerns of the Government in such a terrible condition that our existence as a nationality was on the verge of ruin. The gentleman, continuing his remarks at some length on this point, was interrupted by the arrival of the Fourth Ward Tanner Club, uniformed and carrying torches, under command of Major A. P. Callow. The Club marched up amid loud cheers, and formed in front of the stand, when the speaker resumed his remarks for a short time, touching on the tax question, and closing amid loud applause.

A musical selection followed, after which the Chairman introduced Gen. Wm. A. King, of Baltimore, who was received with enthusiastic cheers. He entertained the audience for nearly an hour in an eloquent and telling speech. He commenced by saying that he had witnessed the evening before a loyal gathering of those who had periled their lives in defense of their country, assembled in Pittsburgh, and forgetting all partizanship, declaring with unanimous voice that their suffrages should be cast in favor of the man who had so often led them to victory, Ulysses S. Grant. He saw in the large and enthusiastic meeting gathered before him that the same spirit and sentiment animated them, an evidence that when the third day of November rolled round the old Keystone State would be found in the ranks of those whose hearts kept time to the music of the Union.

In continuing his remarks the speaker took up and dwelt at considerable length on the question of negro suffrage, showing that the government conferred upon the negro the right to vote, not because he was black, but because he was a man, and had proven himself a loyal, brave, unflinching patriot. The question of equality never entered into the matter at all. Because one man voted the same ticket as another it was no reason for saying he was the social equal of the other, or that the two must associate together. The gist of the matter is that in the reconstruction of the States, Congress has thought it proper to give the direction of affairs to loyal men, without distinction of color. This is the leading idea. Loyalty shall govern what loyalty has preserved. The Democratic party are opposed to this principle. They say that the affairs of the country shall be brought back to the same condition as they were before the war, which is in fact that Southern slaveholders shall administer our affairs of State, and they mean what they say. There is a talk of war if they do not succeed, which some people consider without foundation in fact, but there is danger, which can only be avoided by the loyal people rising in their might and rolling up an overwhelming majority in November for Grant and Colfax.

The speaker in a forcible and effective manner argued the questions of the hour and closed with an earnest appeal in favor of the Republican candidates and platform of principles. His remarks were listened to with profound attention, and elicited frequent and hearty applause.

At the close of Gen. King's speech loud calls were made for Gen. Bleakley and Senator Graham, but as the hour was late both these gentlemen excused themselves and the meeting adjourned.

Meeting in East Birmingham.

The Republicans of East Birmingham held a large and interesting meetiog at the corner of Carson and Railroad streets last evening. The Grant and Colfax Club of that borough turned out to the number of two or three hundred, and supplied with torches and headed by a band of music marched through the principal streets, after which they returned to the place where the meeting was to be held. The meeting was called to order by James P. Brown, Esq., who, as President of the Grant Club, presided over the meeting, which was held under the auspices of the club.

The East Birmingham Glee Club was introduced and sang in splendid style the U. S. Race, after which the Second Ward Glee Club was loudly called for, and responded with a song entitled "Keep the Ball a Rolling, or Grant in the Chair," which was received with enthusiasm by the crowd.

The Chairman then introduced A. S. Blakely, Esq., who addressed the meeting at length. The speaker, after a few preliminary remarks, turned his attention to the financial question which, he said, had been forced into the issue by the Democracy. He handled it in an able and satisfactory manner to all who heard him, and by illustrations from political economy and practical experience, clearly demonstrated to his hearers that the Democratic theory of paying the bonds in greenbacks would not only be injurious to the interests of the laboring classes, but would eventually ruin the country financially. He held that it was cowardly to shrink from the payment of the national debt, and he was not willing to admit that this was a nation of cowards. England, he said, had a debt, contracted in the Fourteenth century, which was now one-fourth larger than the debt of the United States, yet they did not talk of repudiating it. The debt of this Government could be funded at three per cent. interest, and at the present rate of taxation, with the increase of population, could be entirely liquidated inside of forty years.

In regard to the question of taxation, he said the policy of the Republican party was to tax the rich, who were able to pay, and allow the poor to go free, while the Democracy proposed to tax rich and poor alike, every man in proportion to his means. The bond-holder who invested $2,000 in bonds paid a tax of five per cent. on his income after deducting $1,000 for expenses, while his neighbor who invested $20,000 in a farm paid five per cent. on his income after the $1,000 for expenses was deducted. The bond-holder's income was fixed and certain, and consequently he paid his tax annually; but not so with the farmer who, if the frost kills his crops, had no income and consequently paid no taxes.

The question of reconstruction was next taken up and discussed at length, after which the speaker closed.

The Second ward Glee Club was then called upon, and responded by singing in a most excellent manner a campaign song entitled "For President, Ulysses Grant, a smoking his cigar." They were called out again, and responded with "Rally round our Leader."

The Chairman then introduced W. C. Moreland, Esq., who entertained the meeting in his usual happy and eloquent style. He said that the speaker preceding him had gone over the whole ground, and discussed all the issues involved in the present contest so ably and eloquently that it would be useless for him to go over them again; but he owed a debt of gratitude to the citizens of East Birmingham and the other boroughs on the south side which he would never be able to fully repay, and he was at their command so long as he could raise his voice or hand in their service. The pending contest for the Presidency was of vital importance to every citizen in the country, and he was only reiterating the cry of every Democratic orator in the land when he said that it was the most important event that the citizens had ever been called upon to decide. This, however, was an old phrase brought into requisition at every succeeding election, but in all honesty it is now true. The question to be decided is, whether the principles for which so much loyal blood had been spilled, and so many millions of treasure expended, should be trampled under foot by the party who had sought the destruction of the Government, or whether the reigns of government should be placed in the hands of faithful and true men who would maintain inviolate their principles so dearly bought. The speaker then referred to the character of the men who controlled the New York Convention, and the platform they have adopted, which he said promised anything and everything; it promised war, and peace, tariff and free trade, paper currency and coin, in fact it was constructed to suit the tastes of all men of all parties. It was a brave appeal to the passions and prejudices of men to catch the votes, but would not succeed. The speaker then referred to the Democratic party of years past, and said it had sadly degenerated since the days of Jefferson and Jackson.

Mr. Moreland's remarks were well received by the meeting, and will have a telling effect, as he is a favorite with the people on the south side. At the close of his address, which was one of the ablest we have heard during the campaign, he was greeted with loud and prolonged applause.

After a song from the Glee Club and music by the band, the meeting adjourned with three cheers for Grant and Colfax.

The Mass Convention.

The Committee appointed to make arrangements for Grant and Tanner Clubs at the Grand Mass Convention to be held in this city on the 23d and 24th inst., met at City Hall last evening and organized by calling Col. Joseph Browne to the chair.

On motion, Col. Browne was authorized to appoint a sufficient number of aids.

On motion of Mr. Ford, the Chairman was authorized to appoint a Committee of three to prepare invitations and distribute them to the various clubs throughout the State to participate in the demonstration.

The Chair appointed the following gentlemen on the Committee: W. R. Ford, James S. Patterson and Gen. Barnes, who retired, and after a brief absence reported the following, which was adopted:

"The Republican State Central Committee having ordered a Mass Convention, on the 24th, in order to render the same effective and to induce the Union masses of Western Pennsylvania to participate therein, it has been determined to have a grand torch-light procession on the night of the 23d, also a demonstration on the 24th. The Committee of Arrangements extend an invitation to all Grant and Colfax Clubs, as well as Tanner Clubs and kindred organizations, to participate therein.

"You are earnestly requested to assist us in our endeavors by turning out upon this occasion, thus making the demonstration worthy of the great and glorious cause.

"The 'latch-string will be out,' and accommodations will be provided for all visiting organizations. To prevent confusion you are requested to send to the Chairman, Col. Joseph Brown, on or before the 22d inst. the number of your club likely to be in attendance.

"Address box 194 Pittsburgh."

On motion, the Committee adjourned to meet at City Hall, Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Meeting in the Third Ward.

The Republicans of the Third and Fifth wards held a meeting at the Public School House, on Grant street, Third ward, last evening, where an immense throng of people had gathered to hear the truth expounded by honorable men. Young's Brass Band was in attendance and discoursed excellent music during the intervals between the addresses, and at the opening and close of the meeting. Jacob H. Miller and H. B. Carnahan, Esqs., addressed the meeting. The remarks of both speakers were able and eloquent, and eminently satisfactory to the audience, which, by the way, was an unusually orderly and attentive one.

Republican Meeting at East Liberty.

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, the Republicans of East Liberty and vicinity answered to the call for a meeting at the Wigwam on Thursday evening, assembling in large numbers. Col. John H. Stewart was called to preside. Able and eloquent addresses were delivered by W. T. Haines and R. J. Powers, Esqs., eliciting frequent and most marked applause from the audience. Prof. Pope was present and contributed much to the enthusiasm on the occasion by singing several campaign songs. The meeting adjourned to meet at the same place on Thursday evening next.

Political Meetings.

At Bakerstown last night a large meeting of Republicans was addressed by Messrs. Haines and Slagle. Much enthusiasm prevailed.

In McCandless Township an unusually large meeting of Republicans was held. Messrs. Ewing and McCormack delivered able and argumentative addresses, which were listened to with marked attention.

Grant Huzzars.—There have been several hundred enlistments for the campaign in the Grant Huzzars. The idea takes with spirited young men, and a regiment doubtless will be readily obtained. Gen. Wm. Blakeley, a brave and courteous gentleman of large cavalry experience is to have command. Those wishing to join will be afforded opportunity for doing so to-night at City Hall, where a meeting is to be held.

The Campaign in Sewickley.

In spite of inclement weather, the Republicans of Sewickley met in force at the club rooms on Thursday evening, to listen to General F. H. Collier and Col. Thomas M. Bayne on the issues of the day. The meeting was called to order by T. H. Nevin, Esq., President of the Grant Club, who announced a campaign song by the Bellevue Glee Club, the members of which were present, under the leadership of W. H. Whitehead. This was followed by a carefully prepared and well delivered speech from Col. Bayne, which was followed by another song by the club, "Ad Interim," the audience receiving it with enthusiasm. General Collier then took the stand and made one of his characteristic speeches, his wittiest and best. After a couple more songs by the Glee Club, the meeting adjourned in the best of humor, and with a determination to do their best for the ticket that means peace.

Where are the Postoffice Detectives?

A respectable jewelry merchant of Allegheny City informs us that on the 24th of August he mailed in the Allegheny office two money letters, and on the 1st September nine other money letters; that of these eleven remittances only six have reached the parties addressed. The five missing letters covered about one thousand dollars and will probably never be heard from. This is the experience of but one house and suggests the probability that hundreds of other letters are lost. Such a condition of the mail service should not be suffered to continue for a single day. No expedient or expense should be spared to ferret out the offender or delinquent. If the mails are thus unsafe the commercial world must abandon the use of them and provide secure modes for transmitting from point to point, from city to city, the millions which are necessarily and constantly circulating between parts remote from each other.

Noonday Prayer Meetings.

The noonday prayer meetings held under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association, at their rooms on Fifth street, continue with unabated interest. Special arrangements have been made for the accommodation of ladies, privileges which they seem to appreciate judging from the attendance.

To-day the meeting will be held especially in the interest of that great enterprise dear to the heart of every christian—the Sabbath school. A cordial and affectionate invitation is extended to all Sabbath school officers, teachers and scholars to attend and further the work by their presence and influence. The meeting continues but half an hour, so that all may afford the time to labor in a cause which will richly repay them for all their toil and care.

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—Never have we seen a finer audience in the Opera House than that which assembled there last evening on the occasion of Edwin Booth's benefit. Not only was the audience the largest of the season, every portion of sitting space and a large proportion of standing room being occupied, but the large assemblage was brilliant and fashionable in the extreme. The bill consisted of two pieces, a mistake, we think, as they had to be cut, a process which always produces dissatisfaction. The "Merchant of Venice" and "Katherine and Petruchio" were on the programme, and the splendid manner in which they were rendered compensated for the slight disappointment produced by the "cutting." Booth's Shylock is a magnificent piece of character acting. The many fine points in the character were rendered with great power and vividness, and drew forth frequent and hearty rounds of applause, and twice Mr. Booth was called before the curtain. His Petruchio, also, was exceedingly fine, and proved Mr. Booth as excellent in comedy as in tragedy. The principal support in both pieces was good. This afternoon the "Lady of Lyons" and this evening "Richard III."

—Morgan Stephenson, employed as an errand boy for a Wall street (New York) broker was robbed in January last of eleven hundred dollars in gold, which he was conveying to the bank by a man (as he represented,) who threw snuff in his eyes and then fled with the money. A few days ago Stephenson and another boy were arrested for a bold robbery in Brooklyn, and he acknowledged that he was an accomplice in the robbery in January, that it was a made up thing between himself and the robber, and that he received one hundred and fifty dollars of the money.

—The following ticket was nominated by the Republican State Convention of Kansas yesterday: For Governor, Gen. James M. Harvey; Lieutenant Governor, C. V. Eskridge; Justice, M. Valentine; Secretary of State, Col. Moonlight; Auditor, A. Thomson; Treasurer, George Graham; Attorney-General, Wm. Danforth; Superintendent Public Instruction, P. McVicar; Electors, Anthony, Kalloch and Horton; Congress, Sidney Clark. The Convention was very large.

—Mrs. S. L. Bremen, a widow, residing in Helena, Ark., was robbed on the train between St. Louis and Chicago last Monday of $3,600, the proceeds of the sale of some property in Chicago, and all she possessed in the world. She was Chloroformed while asleep, and the money abstracted from a pocket in an underskirt.

—Mr. Pinchback (mulatto) a member of the Louisiana Legislature, in a card to the New York Tribune, denies that he has made any threats of massacre or incendiarism. He says the speech attributed to him the other day entirely misrepresented his sentiments. He counsels moderation and deprecates violence.

—It is believed that the great tidal wave which occurred on August 14th, at San Pedro, and along the southern coast of California, resulted from an earthquake at Callao. The disturbance of the tides was noticed at this harbor at the same date.

—Two hundred and eighty barrels of condemned whisky were sold by the United States Marshal at auction, in New York, yesterday, at 76 cents per gallon.

THE DEAD COLONEL IN BLUE.

BY REV. GEO. D. WILDES.

I.
Out where the murky night
Closed o'er the waning fight,
Just there we found him; about him the blue;
Pale the dim lanterns beam;
Still there the crimson stream
Told how he fell; ah! the brave heart and true!

II.
Fold the coat round him
Here where we found him;
Turn the sod over and bid him adieu;
Lift up brief prayer to God,
Where the torn column trod;
This is 'God's Acre" for brave hearts and true.

III.
Blood-stained and tattered?
Ah! nothing it mattered
When through the shot streamed the battle-line blue;
Honored in story,
Fold it for glory,
Leave it about him, the brave heart and true.

IV.
Red? Yes, the bayonet
Stamps there its pathway yet;
White? Ah, the pallid brow, wrapped in the blue!
Yet those his country's sign,
Well may the hues combine,
When sleeps in glory the brave heart and true.

V.
Fold the coat round him,
Just where ye found him;
Drop the tear, comrades, and bid him adieu;
Dear be his name and fame,
His be the high acclaim,
When sounds the roll-call of brave hearts and true.

VI.
"Attention!" The quick step;
Firm the quivering lip;
"Forward, March! On for the red, white and blue;"
Think of his gallant lead
His be your mien and deed;
Farewell the Colonel! Brave heart and true.

SIR ROBERT PEEL, THE STATESMAN.

BY JAMES PARTON.

Daniel Webster used to say, after his return from England, that "Sir Robert Peel was head and shoulders above any man he had ever met." The Duke of Wellington said of him, "Of all the men I ever knew, Sir Robert Peel had the greatest regard for truth."

These were high eulogiums,—one testifying to the greatness of his intellect, and the other to the goodness of his principles. He was a man, too, of admirable bodily gifts. He was handsome, robust, of sound constitution, and imposing presence. I well remember him one evening, about the year 1843, rising to address the House of Commons. Before he rose, there had been a good deal of noise and bustle in the House; members had been chatting together, and several had been walking across the floor; but the instant it was perceived that the Prime Minister was upon his feet, the noise was hushed, and every one was most attentive to listen. He was a portly man then, though not corpulent, and his fine broad chest was clad in a white waistcoat, which was all of his costume which could be discerned from the gallery of the House of Commons. He merely had some unimportant announcements to make to the House, and did not speak more than three minutes; but every word he uttered revealed the master. The ease, the elegance, the clearness, the courtesy of the premier, struck with admiration the green youth who was stretching his neck over the gallery railings. To all these eminent gifts of body and mind were added a fortune of twelve hundred thousand pounds sterling, and the place of all others in the world the most gratifying to English ambition, that of ruler of the British Empire.

This fortunate and richly endowed man was the son of that Sir Robert Peel, the cotton-spinner, who won his baronetcy by his thoroughgoing Toryism, and his ardent devotion to King George the Third. The first Sir Robert, though he sat in Parliament for thirty years, was not a man of education. In his youth he had eaten his dinner from pewter plates, and had worked hard, assisting his father in printing calico; but but now that he had become rich, he was resolved that his children, especially his eldest son Robert, should have every advantage of education which the world afforded.

That son, born in 1788, early gave promise of future eminence. In him seemed happily combined his father's strength and his mother's tenderness and nobility of mind. His mother, it seems, was quite as remarkable for a woman as his father was for a man. Born and bred in a farm-house, she was a beautiful woman, of noble presence and graceful demeanor; and, though no better educated than her husband, she was quicker to learn than he, and for many years served him as secretary, and wrote most of his business letters. By and by, when she was called to preside over a great London house as the wife of a wealthy member of Parliament, no one saw in her manner or appearance anything of the country lass who had steeped her fair arms, many a time, in her husband's dye-pots. She did not live to see the greatness of her son. The stupid custom of the English in eating their dinner at seven or eight o'clock, and turning night into day, did not agree with her country constitution, and she died before her son Robert had completed his education.

Harrow, the most aristocratic of the public schools of England, was the one selected by the great cotton-spinner for his favorite son. Among the lad's fellow-pupils was Lord Byron, who says of him, in one of his letters:

"There were always great hopes of Peel among us all, masters and scholars, and he has not disappointed them."

Others of his schoolfellows tell us that he was a steady, industrious boy, the best scholar in the school, and was always ready to assist the dull ones in writing their verses and learning their lessons. They say, too, that his schoolfellows forgave his manifest and striking superiority, and that he was not unpopular among them. I regret to add that he was somewhat too fond of strolling off by himself into the country, and did not much relish the joyous and health-giving games of the playground.

From Harrow he went, at the age of sixteen, to Oxford University, where he entered the most aristocratic college, and on the aristocratic footing of a gentleman commoner. He was a most diligent student, and won, at the end of his University career, the most splendid triumph ever before accorded to a student of an English University. At the end of the course there are two separate examinations of great severity and long continuance—one in Latin and Greek and the other in Mathematics. Robert Peel was the first student who ever won the first prize at both of these examinations. The unprecedented event excited universal interest in England, and when the young student presented himself upon the platform to pronounce the usual oration the audience, and especially his fellow-students gave him a reception which would have overwhelmed a person of ordinary temperament and character. This student, however, acknowledged the vociferous cheers of his friends with equal serenity and modesty, and seemed afterwards to attach no great importance to what had occurred. He was no nervous, dyspeptic student. While working hard at his books he took care to strengthen and exercise his tall and vigorous frame by walking, riding, rowing and shooting.

With all his great abilities and great acquirements, his was not a critical or, question asking mind. His father was an extreme and enthusiastic Tory, who had educated this admirable youth in the fond expectation of seeing him one day the leader of the Tory party in England. The son imbibed his father's opinions, and warmly acquiesced in his father's plans. In 1809, which was the twenty-second year of his age, his father brought him into Parliament for one of those small boroughs of the olden time which rich men bought, sold and gave away at their pleasure. Lord Palmerston entered Parliament at the same time. Pitt, Fox and Burke were dead, and Sheridan was about to pass from the scene; but Canning, Wilberforce, Wyndham, Grattan, Perceval, Castlereagh, Mackintosh, Romilly, Horner and Brougham were members, and Canning was in the fresh lustre of his talents. The new member's own father sat conspicuous upon the Tory benches, behind Castlereagh and Canning.

Introduced into this scene so captivating to the imagination, so stimulating to the talents of young Englishmen, Robert Peel, whose splendid university triumphs made him a marked person and excited the highest expectations, sat for a whole session without making a speech. Two or three times he uttered a remark or two upon some unimportant matter, as if to get used to the sound of his own voice, but attempted nothing like a speech. At the beginning of the second session, however, he was appointed by the Tory ministry to second the address in reply to the king's speech—a duty usually assigned to some promising young member of the party in power. He acquitted himself well, and from that time forward he was an active and leading member of the House, never ceasing as long as he lived to grow in knowledge, power and influence.

He had one great advantage. During the last fifty years, men of his mental calibre, in all countries, have generally inclined to what is called the "liberal" side of politics, so that when we say of a man that he is a Tory, we usually mean that he is a fool. This young giant, inheriting Tory principles from his father, easily took the lead (after Canning's death) in a party which young men of ability instinctively avoided. His advance was both rapid and steady. When he was twenty-four years of age he was in office, and from that time to the close of his life he held a place in the administration whenever the Tories were in power.

Such a man, however, cannot be a mere Tory, or a blind follower of any party whatever. The work which he did in his life was this: He liberalized the Tory party; he taught them the necessity of yielding to the best demands of the people, and the wisdom of doing so before they were compelled. Thus he repealed the Corn Laws and emancipated the Irish Catholics, in opposition to all that was blind and bigoted in England. He originated the Police system of Great Britain, which we have copied in America.

On the 29th of June, 1850, while riding in one of the London Parks, he was thrown from his horse, and was injured so severely that he died four days after, in his sixty-third year. Few men have been more sincerely, more universally, or more justly mourned than he.

Happily married in his thirty-second year, and surrounded by a family of five sons and two daughters, he was in private life as estimable as he was great in public. Tory as he was, it would be hard to name a "Liberal" statesman who has ever conferred upon a country a greater number of measures practically wise, or who gave his country a stronger impulse toward rational freedom.—N. Y. Ledger.

The American Ambassador Abroad.

It is human nature the world over to have respect for and to be influenced by good manners, cultivation, social parts, and a gentlemanly dispensation of an intellectual hospitality. There is no country in the world where this is better understood or more practiced than in the United States. And yet a people which understands life and human nature quite as well as any other, and at home bestows its hospitality more lavishly than any other, and with all this believes in its democracy and is justly proud of its democracy, will send ministers resident to courts where third and fourth rate monarchies send their envoys extraordinary and ministers plenipotentiary—is content that its diplomats shall live on mean streets and in third rate houses, keeps them on a scale of pay that was fixed when living in Europe cost about one-half what it does now, and will have them walk when others ride, or ride in greasy street cabs when others ride in their own carriages.

It may be stated, as a general rule, that American Diplomats either do not live and move and socially reciprocate as would be advantageous to their government, or, if they do, they lose money at it. The British diplomat has an outfit to begin with, which the American has not; he has an outfit every time he is changed to another post, which the American has not—indeed, the latter is seldom changed except when unceremoniously jerked home; he has an outfit when he retires, which the American has not; after a certain length of service and permanent retirement he has a pension, which the American does not ask for; while in office he has from two to four times the help to do the work of the legation, and he has the reward of promotion constantly held up to him, which the American has not. These are very great advantages. When to these we add that while in office his annual pay is about three times as large as that of his American colleague, and his grade of office always higher, we can estimate the pecuniary difference between the two positions.

The American Ambassador should be encouraged to hope for permanance in office, and for promotion in the service, just in proportion as his own discharge of duty is able, skilful, and faithful, considered in connection with his present grade and the length of past service. He should have removed from his contemplation the degrading spectacle of a basketful of bloody heads rushing at him for his own at every turn and whiff of the political breeze. It either makes him a coward and a time-server or renders him stolidly indifferent to the discharge of duty. What incitement has a man so situated to the close study of politics, the manners, the commercial interests, the political growths, the alliances, and the national animosities of the people among whom he lives, and for making clear and compact statements of these in his dispatches to his own government.—Nation.

A Singular Bird Killed in Kentucky.

James Henry, of Mound City, Illinois, on Sunday week, shot a new and comparatively unknown bird, on the Kentueky shore opposite that city, which is thus described by the Cairo Democrat:

"It is larger than the ostrich, and weighs one hundred and four pounds. The body of this wonderful bird is covered with snow-white down, and its head is of a fiery red. The wings, of deep black, measures fifteen feet from tip to tip, and the bill, of a yellow color, twenty-four inches. Its legs are slender and sinewy, pea green in color, and measure forty-eight inches in length. One of the feet resembles that of a duck, and the other that of a turkey. Mr. Henry shot it at a distance of one hundred yards, from the topmost branch of a dead tree, where it was perched, preying upon a full-sized sheep that it had carried from the ground. This strange species of bird, which is said to have existed extensively during the days of the mastadon, is almost entirely extinct—the last one having been seen in the State of New York during the year 1813. Potter has it on exhibition in his office at Mound City. Its flight across the town and river was witnessed by hundreds of citizens."

MONEY AND GOLD.

NEW YORK, September 11, 1868.

Money easy at 3@5 on call. The plans of the bear clique have been partially made public. They already sold short five millions of governments, twenty to twenty-five thousand shares railway stocks and seven millions gold, which is said to be merely the beginning of the campaign. Rumor says they are putting out a great amount of money at sellers' option at thirty to sixty days, the money received from the ten per cent. margins to be deposited in trust companies. When this is completed, the story goes, that money is to be made tight by locking up greenbacks. It is intimated that some bank officials are to be let into the ring. Report also says that the Erie clique is to sell the five millions of stock purchased by Vanderbilt, the money realized thereon to be locked up. The affair seems well planned, but depends entirely on a tight money market. Sterling quiet and unchanged. Gold opened at 143⅞ and closed at 144¼@144¾.

RIVER NEWS.

Our rivers, under the influence of the recent heavy rains, continue to rise steadily, with six feet in the channel by the Monongahela pier mark yesterday. At noon the Allegheny was rising steadily at Oil City, with thirty-three inches in the channel, and raining, and the Monongahela was reported rising above. From all that we can learn, the recent rains appear to have been general, and a good coalboat rise is confidently predicted. Besides, the rain is not over, as it rained nearly all day yesterday, and the indications in the evening were favorable for more during the night.

The fleet of towboats that has been laid up at, or near Buffington for about three months has commenced to arrive, and the majority, if not all of them, will arrive here to-day. It is said that there were thirty-two of these tugs laid up at different points between here and Coalport.

There were no arrivals or departures yesterday. The Bayard is expected here to-day, and will we presume, at once take her place in the Pittsburgh & Parkersburg trade. Her companions the Gray Eagle is on the dock undergoing repairs but will be here in a day or two ready to go into the same trade. Capt. A. S. Shepard will have command of the Bayard, and Capt. C. L. Brennan, will continue in charge of the Eagle.

The Armadillo, Capt. D. H. Swaney, is filling up steadily for St. Louis and Missouri River and all intermediate points.

The Ida Reese No. 2 and Echo No. 2 were both towed back to the Allegheny landing yesterday afternoon.

Capt. Martin, of the Maggie Hays, arrived in Cincinnati on Thursday morning, from St. Louis, having laid his boat up at that port for the present, on account of lack of business. He reports the Belle Vernon trying to get a trip for Pittsburgh, but not meeting with much encouragement

—The Emma No. 3 enroute from New Orleans passes Vicksburg on Saturday last.

—At New London on the Upper Mississippi, last Friday, the carpenter of the Keethsburg was on the wheel when it commenced turning. He clung to it until the pilot stopped the boat, and the carpenter got a good sousing. He was in great peril.

—The Cincinnati Gazette says: "There is a movement on foot, and we believe it has good backing, to organize a line of steamers to ply between Cincinnati and points on the Tennessee river. The Abeona and Kate Robinson are spoken of for the trade."

—The Memphis Appeal, of Monday, says: We are informed that dispatches have been received by persons in this city, stating that hereafter transient boats would receive no freight for this port; also, that their passengers would be sent ashore by tugs, to prevent paying wharfage.

—The elegant side-wheel steamer J. N. McCullough, Captain Geo. D. Moore, and the St. Charles, Capt. C. A. Dravo, will ply regularly between Cincinnati and Pittsburgh during the present season. The former will leave Cincinnati every Friday, and Pittsburgh every Tuesday, at 12 m., and the latter will leave Cincinnati every Monday, and Pittsburgh every Friday, at 4 p. m.

—We noticed yesterday that some parties in New Orleans had inserted in a card in the papers of that city that the Lizzie Gill preferred to have negroes unload the boat in preference to white men. In reply, Captain O'Neil, of the steamer Lizzie Gill, wants the merchants and shippers generally to understand that he works the same kind of labor as Mr. Thos. R. Smith, Thos. E. Henthorn or Thos. Hastings, in discharging his boat—the only difference, he prefers driving himself, when he can do so, by a saving of one hundred per cent.

—Says the St. Louis Democrat: Captain Tom Rea has become identified with the St. Louis and Fort Benton trade, and peculiarly it has proved to him a source of gratifying success. He has sold an interest in the Success to his brother, Captain George Rea, mate of the Mountaineer, which boat he leaves with regret to take command of the Success. Captain Tom was to leave last evening for Pittsburg, designing to give orders there for the construction of a side-wheel steamer very similar to the Mountaineer, which shall fill the bill in all respects as a Fort Benton and lower port packet.

—We clip the following from the Cincinnati Commercial, of Thursday: The rain, yesterday, prevented shipments, detaining all but the short packets. The McCullongh and Gray for Pittsburgh, Butler for Wheeling, Charmer for Evansville, and Fanny Brandeis for the South, were detained from this cause, but will depart to-day. Freights are offering in moderate quantities, at the following rates: Pittsburgh and Wheeling, 15 to 20c; St. Louis and Ohio river, 30c; Memphis, 40 to 45c; New Orleans, 50 to 60c per cwt.....There is considerable demand for hay, with shipments from Cincinnati for the interior of Ohio and to Pittsburgh. Dr. S. P. Hill ships 200 bales for Pittsburgh to-day, on the McCullough.

—Says the Cincinnati Enquirer: The Wm. Butler came in yesterday morning, after an absence of three weeks. She has been detained during that time on Buffington, and only succeeded in getting off after vigorous sparring and by the help of the rise. She had aboard a heavy trip when she grounded, and was drawing considerable water. She reports the river was rising all the way down. The fleet (some twenty) of Pittsburgh tow-boats laid up at Buffington passed over and up for Pittsburgh on the rise. The Edinburg was yet above the bar, unable to get over. The Victress is there, high and dry. The crew dug a canal from her stern to the water for her to slide out in on the first rise.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 144¼@144⅜.

GEN. SIEGEL resides at Morrisania, N. Y., and is President of their GRANT and COLFAX Club. Plenty of Germans are "fighting mit SIEGEL" this year.

IN THE Republican procession at Bangor, Me., was a wagon filled with mutilated Union soldiers, bearing the motto: "This is what we owe to the Democratic party." There are a good many Union men of that kind in Maine and we shall hear from them again next Monday.

HERE is another loyal volunteer against the new Democratic rebellion! Hon. THOS. J. TURNER, of Freeport, Ill., who was the last Democratic candidate for Congress against E. B. WASHBURNE, has publicly avowed his intention to work and vote for GRANT and COLFAX.

THE tender affection of the Democratic party for the boys in blue is shown by the fact that, on Monday last, eighty-five workmen, all Republicans but two, and among them four one-legged and three one-armed soldiers, were discharged from the Portsmouth Navy Yard by the New Democratic incumbents there.

IT IS proposed to re-organize the Atlantic and Great Western Railway Company upon a new financial basis, capitalizing the past-due coupons and certificates of debenture to the extent of about fifteen millions of dollars and increasing the entire bond and share account to about $63,000,000. A proposal of this nature from the Directors has meet unanimous approval in England, where the greater portion of the stocks and bonds is held.

MR. SEYMOUR, in his little speech at Albany, on Wednesday, announced that he had "received from all quarters the most gratifying assurances of Democratic triumph." The Vermont telegraph lines were down that day. Four years ago, at Milwaukee, the same unerring prophet made a speech declaring that "the people had lost faith in the administration. I believe that we are to triumph in this contest. No man can doubt this who saw what I saw at Chicago." The November ballot brought that triumph—over the left—and '68 will report it in the same way.

Two years ago Chief Justice WOODWARD delivered an opinion, in the case of SHALLENBERGER vs. BRITTON, rd. B. F. SMITH, page 9, to the effect that the legal tender currency was unconstitutional. In this opinion, Judge THOMPSON concurred. In the case of TROTT vs. BORIE, in the District Court of Philadelphia, and reported in the Legal Intelligencer, the same opinion was prononnced by Judge SHARSWOOD. Those opinions, particularly the one first mentioned, was applauded by all the Democratic journals of Pennsylvania. Now all those journals are in favor of increasing to an almost indefinite extent a currency which three of their most eminent jurists have pronounced to be in violation of the Constitution. Are they animated by a desire to inpinge upon the organic law? or are they controlled by a disposition to swindle the public creditors?

THE DEBT NEARLY HALF PAID.

Add to the amount of the Public Debt, as officially promulgated April 1st, '65, $2.366,-955,077, this amount being the ascertained obligations of the Government, the larger amounts which were at the same date actually due, but not yet ascertained and liquidated, and we can form an exact idea of how much money we owed at the close of the war. The official Treasury Reports show that we were also owing at that date, in back pay for our soldiers, for transportation and for the settlement of contracts for subsistence and war material, the further sum of $698,546,078, all of which we paid off within the next fifteen months, that is, by the 30th of June, '66. This for the War Department. The Navy Department was also owing for similar claims, the further sum of $76,319,773, which it proceeded to ascertain, settle and pay off within the same period. We have also paid for bounties, pensions, prize money, reimbursing States, claims of loyal men, and other proper charges of the war, the further sum of $145,912,401.

The aggregate of these war expenses, $930,778,252, every dollar of which was due, although not yet ascertained, and existed as part of the National obligations on the 1st of April, '65, must be added to the ascertained debt at the latter date, and the total amount of money which we were really owing was $3,287,733,329. As the Secretary reports our total debt September 1, '68, at only $2,500,300,313, omitting the railroad bonds, the people will see that there has been already paid off the sum of $787,-433,016, or one-fourth part of the whole debt of the country at the end of the war. To deny that, you must hold that a debt is not a debt so long as it is merely a claim; that no matter how just the claim, it constitutes no part of your obligations until you acknowledge your liability. This is not the way a man of sense does business. He reckons his obligations according to what in law and justice and honor he has agreed to pay, and it is a debt which he recognizes whether ascertained and entered up in his books or not.

And not only has the Treasury thus paid in three years one-fourth of the enormous debt occasioned by the war, but it has in the same time paid, for interest on that and on the other three-fourths, the sum of $438,-484,833. Here, then, have been paid in the three years over twelve hundred millions of public obligations. And who among our citizens has felt any grievous or oppressive burthen therefrom?

We have seen somewhere a Democratic estimate which places the share of the Public Debt falling upon Pennsylvania at $300,-000,000, or one-sixth of the amount now standing unpaid. If that be correct, the same estimate must show that Pennsylvania has borne the same proportion in paying off the $1,200,000,000 of principal and interest already discharged; that the people of this Commonwealth have already paid twelve hundred millions of dollars. One estimate is good if the other is. Now let us remark that, whether she has paid more or less, it has not distressed her so much but that she can pay her share of the remainder quite as easily. Let the Democracy cypher on that!

But let us, while we are about it, look a little closer into this matter. We have stated above only the amount of the war debt actually paid up June 30, '66, and the interest account for the three years, from '65. The fact is, however, that we have continued the liquidation and settlement of these war expenses up to the present year and have not finished yet. The claims for bounties and arrearages of pay are not all in yet, but we are happy to state that only about ten per cent. of them remain unadjusted. These and other extraordinary expenses, the necessary and unavoidable consequences of our efforts to put down the first Democratic rebellion, were summed up by the GAZETTE a month since, upon the highest official authority as follows:

War Department	$3,008,702,928 02
Navy	208,340,376 13
Interest paid on debt to July 1, '68	287,488,189 35
Total ascertained	$3,904,531,493,50

This is what the rebellion has so far cost us. As we are now owing only $2,500,-000,000, it follows that nearly $1,500,000,000 of the war debt, three-eighths of the whole burthen, has been forever extinguished. That tells the whole story and leaves nothing to guess-work.

A CAUTION.

We recommend our friends, who have no knowledge of the German language, to be on their guard against a recent device of the opposition. Within a few days, the latter have flooded the city with a four-page German pamphlet, which has been distributed in every public place, at stores, offices and counting rooms, and at the gates of manufacturing establishments, in the hope that the employer, ignorant of its real tenor, would unguardedly hand it over to his German workmen. Numbers of these pamphlets have been left with us for examination, by friends who were suspicious of their real tenor and design, and Copperhead cheek has even had a beautiful illustration in the sending of a sack of them, containing a bushel or two, to our own Executive Committee for distribution! We have a translation of the document, and find it filled with the vilest, and yet the most artful falsehoods, elaborated for the evident purpose of misleading German voters. The questions of the public debt, of taxation, and of reconstruction of the South, are shamelessly misrepresented, the facts concealed, and the most palpable falsehoods are reiterated in a foreign tongue, and for effect upon the prejudices of the German-speaking voters, with an evident confidence in the improbability of any denial or refutation.

We again urge upon our friends not to lend themselves to the circulation of these infamous fabrications, unless they at the some time ascertain their nature and fully explain to their German friends the attempted deception. The pamphlet before us makes no statement which is not capable of the most ample refutation, but, nevertheless, might do mischief if suffered to circulate without reply. Look out, therefore, for all such Democratic tricks and squelch them.

MR. JEREMIAH S. BLACK recently made a speech at York, the place of his residence, in which he said:

"Rather than see General Grant elected President, with the understanding that he is to administer the Government on the Congressional plan of disregarding all constitutional obligations, it would be far better to let him or somebody else be proclaimed absolute dictator and abolish the Constitution at once. For myself, if I must choose between the two most frightful evils that ever scourged the human race, I will without hesitation take an unlimited monarchy in preference to a rotten republic."

He might have gone a step farther without doing violence to the truth, and have confessed that the Democratic leaders, for the long period of thirty years, have assumed the republic to be rotten and desired to replace it with a monarchy. That is what the late rebellion, and the protracted conspiracy that preceded it, really meant. Of course, millions do not conspire; hence we acquit the Democratic masses; but leaders do, and in this case they intended to set up a monarchy as soon as the fortune of war turned decisively in their favor. As far as Mr. BLACK saw proper to go in his confession, he has made a clean breast of it. On some future occasion, not far distant, he may be inclined to own up from the bottom of the plot.

AND NOW it transpires that Mr. DAVID CRAWFORD, the Democratic candidate for Congress in the XXIVth or Waynesburg district owes his nomination to his peculiarly strong claims upon Democratic confidence and sympathies, not only just at this time, but for the past seven years. The Republican shows the nature of these claims in the annexed statement:

When the war began Crawford was a clerk in one of the departments at Washington City. His violent sympathy and open advocacy of the cause of the rebels, and his denunciation of the Union, was known among his friends, and disgusted a relative, with whom he boarded, to such an intolerable extent, that he was compelled to rebuke him openly. He even disgusted a rebel who afterwards became a General in the armies of treason. Crawford was rebuked by this Southerner for his violence. He went beyond the views of the rebel in his denunciations of the North. It is a fact that Crawford had all his arrangements made, shortly after the opening of the war, to move from Washington to Alabama. He said he intended to cast his destiny with the South. He, however, on account of sickness in his family, came North, and on his way to Greene county stopped over night in this place. On account of his treasonable utterances, he was ordered to leave the town, and it was only through the intercession of friends that he was saved a coat of tar and feathers for his open secession expressions.

THE Richmond Whig claims to know upon good authority that "Mr. SEYMOUR has expressed his opinion that a certain speech of a distinguished Southerner cost the Democratic party of the North two hundred thousand votes." The Whig sorrowfully adds: "Better not say anything than use such language, that only exasperates and strengthens our enemies." But both SEYMOUR and the Richmond Whig must remember that the Democratic National Convention, at the suggestion of the same "distinguished Southerner," pronounced "the reconstruction acts of Congress, so-called, to be usurpations, unconstitutional, revolutionary and void." What could he infer from this declaration but precisely what he has inferred. These declarations, which Mr. SEYMOUR dolefully insists have lost him two hundred thousand votes, are all justified by the Democratic Platform itself. In the end, Democrats of all degrees will understand this.

HENRY WARD BEECHER, in a letter accepting the honor of an election to be an honorary member of the Printers' GRANT and COLFAX Club at Washington, concludes with the pointed paragraph as follows:

The new adhesion of impatient Southern men to the very worst type of Democratic doctrine ever enunciated since the party went into alliance with slavery, cannot be as disastrous for the South as was the league with the same party before the war. The Democratic party seems fated to lead the South into desperate steps, and then to be utterly unable to help those whom it has deluded. It will be so again. Utterly lost to all moderation, the Convention in New York has laid down a platform which will bring civil war to the South again, unless it is prevented by the victory of the Republican party. I am, very truly yours,
HENRY WARD BEECHER.

THE REBELS of the Georgia Legislature are carrying matters with a high hand. Having expelled the colored members without a trial under the provisions of a code which expressly requires a previous trial before its penalties are enforced, they next proceeded, in the face of the Governor's protest, to admit the defeated white competitors of the members expelled. A dispatch before us states "the House refused to investigate the eligibility, under the fourteenth article, of these new members, and swore them in. It is all alleged that many of them held office before the war, and afterward joined in the rebellion. The Ku-Klux have now complete control of the House."

LUMINOUS METEORS.—In addition to the radiant points in the northern hemisphere of the heavens, it is stated that from observations taken at Melbourne, Australia, between 1858 and 1868, there have been discovered various points in the southern heavens from which star showers emanate. The observations on the meteoric shower of August 9th, 1868, made in England, state that the paths of twenty-six meteors were recorded. The meteors on this occasion were principally green, yellow and orange color, and the appearance of the shower was consequently less confused than is usually the case when the bodies emit a blue light. The meteors appeared to emanate from several points—one in the sword handle of Perseus, and another slightly north of Cassiopœia. The latter point is in right ascension two hours and sixteen minutes, and North Polar distance thirty-six degrees.

WILD BEASTS IN INDIA.—The sum spent in 1867, in the four divisions of Central India, for the destruction of wild beasts, amounted to $20,300. This money was expended in the extermination of nearly 3,000 animals, as follows: 902 leopards and panthers, 535 bears, 527 tigers, 475 hyenas and 467 wolves. The reward offered for the destruction of tigers averages about $25 apiece; in the case of man eaters, the reward is raised to $50.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

According to the accounts of the India correspondent of a Boston journal, THEODORE PARKER'S writings have had quite an effect upon highly educated Hindoos, who think their belief in his views involves no loss of caste. But to become a Christian, to attend Church and receive the right of baptism, is to become an apostate, unclean and impure. No man it is said in India can become a Christian without being cast off by his dearest friends—wife, children, father, mother, all hate and curse him; but no such consequences follow when idols and Shasters are rejected, and the theology of Mr. PARKER is accepted instead.

It is an open question, how long a minister is regarded as a young man. Rev. Prof. TAYLOR, the new Professor at Andover Theological Seminary, in his inaugural address, says men thirty or forty are often still young; some are younger at fifty than others at twenty. If the spirit keeps young, no matter for the years, the preacher himself is still young.

The Old School Presbyterian Synod of Allegheny will meet at Bridgewater, Beaver county, Pa., on the fourth Friday of September at seven o'clock in the evening.

A Convention of the Episcopal Church in Missouri met in St. Louis Thursday week, and elected Rev. Charles F. Robertson, of Malone, New York, Bishop for the Diocese of Missouri, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Bishop Hawks. Bishop Tuttle, of Montana, it will be remembered, declined the honor.

A Minister's wife asks the question, says the Congregationalist, when the minister's salary is fifteen hundred dollars, and a thousand are paid for music, is that a judicious and equitable apportionment of the money raised for parochial purposes? The minister gives seven days' work every week, evenings included, to the church, and choristers give less than seven hours, rehearsals included.

The Mennonite Conference of Ohio, at its recent meeting, took action that a brother or sister marrying outside of the Church will be considered not only a transgression against the rules of the Church, but also a transgression against the Word of God. This they must acknowledge and confess before they can be again received into the Church.

Reference was made not long since to the strictness of the Society of Friends, in Philadelphia, in regard to wearing their peculiar garb and style of dress. Withal the severity of the Friends on the dress question, it appears, that some time ago the Philadelphia yearly meeting of Friends consented, after much deliberation, that one of their influential members might retain and use in his family the elegant piano which he had purchased. Before that it was customary to "read out of the meeting" any member who kept a piano.

Rev. Dr. Prime, of the New York Observer, is represented as having said at a public meeting, in New York, that the system of mission-chapels has failed, and that not one self-sustaining church had ever been produced thereby. This is certainly a mistake. The Doctor should not take New York as a fair sample of the success of mission-chapels generally.

The New York State Sabbath School Teachers' Association, at its recent session in Elmira, recommended the holding of an International Sunday School Convention at Newark, N. J., the Convention to be held not later than the first of January. The Association resolved that a Training Class be organized in the city of New York during the coming winter. The subject of a Normal College was discussed, but finally referred to the first meeting of a National Institute or Convention.

The Universe (Catholic) speaking of the baptism of Hon. Thad. Stevens, in his last moments, by a Sister of Charity, says, whatever may have been his predilections for the Catholic faith, he died a son of Pius IX, "and as baptism expunges all sins which are on the soul before its administration, his salvation is certain."

The building of the Baptist Theological Seminary, now rapidly going up in Chicago, is to be of brick, two hundred and fourteen feet long, forty-eight feet wide and four stories high, and will contain one hundred and eight rooms for students, besides a boarding department and four residences for professors. It will cost about sixty thousand dollars. It is expected that the rents of its residences will endow one professorship. Great efforts to endow this institution liberally are being put forth.

The New York Independent urges Congress to lay as high a tax on sermon paper as on whisky—in conformity with Napoleon's rule, that vices should be taxed high. It thinks as a general thing, that the life which dwells in a minister's manuscript is like the voice which dwelt in Balaam's ass—it required a miracle to make it speak.

W. A. Ingham, Esq, of Cleveland, Ohio, has generously agreed to educate Ernest G. Wesley, a young man, converted in Buenos Ayres, for the mission work of that country. This young man is a native of England, aged twenty-one, for two years a resident of Buenos Ayers, and a descendant of Samuel, and Susannah Wesley, of Epworth.

The trumpet used at Sing Sing camp meeting is made of solid silver. The old silver trumpet, whose clarion call still rings as clear as ever through the camp-ground, is twenty-six inches long, and is of elegant figure, and great purity and sonority of tone.

A gentleman in Yonkers, New York, is building a two hundred thousand dollar Baptist church, as a memorial to his deceased wife.

The Universal Catholic thinks the late address to the Pope in Latin, is as full of rhythm as Virgil's Hexameters, and that the bull of the Immaculate Conception, written by Father Perrone, is the most "splended literary task of mortal man for a thousand years."

An Episcopal clergyman, Rev. Mason Gallaher, declared recently in Detroit, that he regarded the principle established in the Tyng trial as a "bird with the same feather with the doctrine of secession." As the one disrupted the States, the other will rend asunder the Protestant Episcopal Church, unless put down by the prompt uprising of the laity.

Five ladies were recently ordained deaconesses in the First Christian Church of Philadelphia, Elder David Walk, pastor.

The State street Congregational Church, Brooklyn, New York, tried the experiment some years ago of settling a Methodist over the congregation. The experiment has not worked well. The Cincinnati Gazette says there was too much Methodism for the Congregationalists, and too much Congregationalism for the Methodists. The result is the church is in a very feeble condition, and will probably expire.

—Oregon advices of August 25th say that Colonel Price held a talk with delegations of the Wallapie and Mohave Indians at Fort Mohave, which resulted in an agreement that all tribes assemble in twenty days for a grand council, meanwhile hostilities are to be suspended on both sides. The Wallapie Indians are desirous of peace. Colonel Price is satisfied that no more outrages will be committed. Parties of miners have had to go to the mountains for safety. See Run, chief of the Wallapies and originator of the late war, promised to attend the counsel. Parties from Prescott report meeting a large band of Indians, with See Run at their head, who acted friendly. They said they were tired of war.

—In the regatta of the Hudson River Rowing Association, on Thursday, the double scull race, three miles, was won by Van Roder and O'Neill, of the Columbia club, beating two members of the Atlantic Club. Time, twenty-five minutes and forty-seven seconds. The eight oared barge race was won by the Atalanta in twenty-three minutes and eight seconds, beating the Gulicks and Columbias. The single scull race was won by Tearon, of the Vesper Club, beating Young, of the Columbias. Time, twenty-three minutes and ten seconds. The six oared out-rigger gig race was won by the Mutual Club, beating the Atalantas, Gulicks and Columbias. Time, twenty minutes and fifteen seconds.

GENUINE

GLYCERINE TOILET SOAP,

MANUFACTURED BY

PETER SQUIRE, 277 Oxford street London.

This Soap has been, by a peculiar process, freed from the excess of alkali almost invariably found even in the purest Soaps, and at the same time it is made to take up a large quantity of Glycerine (40 per cent). It is to this latter substance that it chiefly owes its soothing quality—softening the skin, preserving the complexion, preventing chapping and the unpleasant roughness experienced in cold weather. It is found most useful in alleviating the irritation produced by dryness of the skin. On account of its great purity it recommends itself to all persons that suffer from the use of common Soaps; for delicate skins it is the only Soap that can be tolerated. It is particularly useful for cleansing diseased skins, where the irritation produced by ordinary Soaps causes so much inconvenience. It is the most agreeable Shaving Soap that can be used, leaving the skin soft and comfortable. The Soaps usually sold as Glycerine Soaps contain little or no Glycerine. It is only necessary to apply the tongue to the surface and the genuine will be distinguished by the sweet taste. Agent,

DR. SARGENT'S BACKACHE PILLS

Are the most efficient and most popular Diuretic medicine known, removing at once any obstruction of the Kidneys, subduing inflamation and strengthening the Urinary Organs.

Dr. Sargent's Backache Pills

Have been in use 35 years, and are daily performing wonderful cures. In many instances where patients were unable to walk upright or to rise without assistance, they have been relieved by a single dose.

Dr. Sargent's Backache Pills

Cure all diseases of the Urinary Organs, the symptoms of which are weakness and pain in the back and loins, pains in the joints, difficulty in voiding the urine, general debility, &c.

THE KIDNEYS, BLADDER, &C.,

Are those organs through which most of the waste or worn out particles of the body passes; these worn out and dead particles are poisonous, consequently when these organs are diseased the whole system becomes deranged, and if not relieved at once the result may be fatal.

This much esteemed and most efficient medicine is the only diuretic that is put up in the shape of Pills, and is much more easily taken than the ordinary diuretic draughts, the Pills being sugar coated

MEDICAL HINTS FOR THE FALL.

The semi-annual shaking in the fever and ague districts has begun. The fogs of these autumn nights and mornings are surcharged with the elements of intermittent and bilious remittent fevers, and, unfortunately, two-thirds of the community are just in the condition to be disastrously affected by them. Those who have been prudent enough to fortify themselves during the summer with that powerful and infallible vegetable invigorant HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS—are fore-armed against malaria, and have nothing to fear. But health is the last thing too many think about. In the pursuit of gain or pleasure the blessing, without which wealth is dross and enjoyment impossible, is neglected.

Better late than never is a consolatory proverb, however, and oil who begin to feel the premonitory symptoms of any of the epidemics which are engendered by the malaria of autumn, should immediately resort to the GREAT ANTIDOTE OF THE AGE. A few doses of the BITTERS will break up the chills and prevent their recurrence. In every region where intermittents prevail this purest and best of all vegetable tonics is indispensable. Of all antibilious preparations known it is the most effective and harmless. It does not stimulate the liver violently, like the mineral salivants, but tones, renovates and regulates the organ without creating any general disturbance of the system or entailing any reaction. The Bitters are essentially a household specific, and should be always within reach as the very best means of preventing and checking bilious attacks and intermittent fevers.

CHRONIC DISEASES OF THE EAR.

In observations and notes taken by Dr. KEYSER, of this city, on the various diseases of the ear, he says that nine out of ten cases could be cured in their incipiency if application were made to some responsible and competent aural surgeon. The Doctor quotes from the opinion of Wilde, a well known aural surgeon, who says: "I fear not to reiterate the assertion which I made on several former occasions, that if the disease of the ear were as well studied or understood by the generality of practitioners, and as early attended to as those of the eye, it would be found that they were just as much within the pale of scientific treatment. * * Deafness is so common and so distressing an infirmity, and when of long standing so incurable, that we cannot too strongly urge all medical practitioners to make themselves familiar with the treatment of the diseases of the ear."

The Doctor says that nearly all annoying Discharges, Buzzings and Morbid Growths peculiar to the organ of the hearing, some of which had lingered through a score or two of years, can be cured or ameliorated by proper treatment.

ELECTION NOTICE.

PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS, In and by the 13th Section of the Act of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania, passed July 2, 1839, entitled "An Act relating to the Elections of this Commonwealth," it is enjoined on the Sheriff of every county to give notice of such elections to be held, and enumerate in such notice what officers are to be elected. In pursuance thereof, I, SAMUEL B. CLULEY, Sheriff of the county of Allegheny, do therefore make known, and give this public notice to the electors of said county of Allegheny, that a GENERAL ELECTION will be held in said county, on the SECOND TUESDAY, 13th DAY OF OCTOBER NEXT, at the several Election Districts therein, and

WHEREAS, By the Act of Congress of the United States, entitled "An Act to Amend the several Acts heretofore passed to provide for the Enrolling and Calling Out the National Forces, and for other Purposes," and approved March 3d, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five. All persons who have deserted the Military or Naval Service of the United States, and who have not been discharged or relieved from the penalty or disability therein provided, are deemed and taken to have voluntarily relinquished and forfeited their rights to citizenship and their rights to become citizens, and are deprived of exercising any rights of citizens thereof, and

WHEREAS, Persons not citizens of the United States, are not under the Constitution and laws of Pennsylvania qualified electors of this Commonwealth.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same, That in all elections hereafter to be held in this Commonwealth, it shall be unlawful for the Judge or Inspectors of any such election to receive any ballot or ballots from any person or persons embraced in the provisions and subject to the disability imposed by said Act of Congress, approved March 3, 1868, and it shall be unlawful for any such person to offer to vote any ballot or ballots.

SEC. 2. That if any such Judge or Inspectors of election, or any one of them shall receive or consent to receive any such unlawful ballot or ballots from any such disqualified person, he or they so offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof in any Court of Quarter Sessions of this Commonwealth, he shall for each offence be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars and to undergo an imprisonment in the jail of the proper county for not less than sixty days.

SEC. 3. That if any person deprived of citizenship and disqualified as aforesaid shall at any election hereafter to be held in this Commonwealth, vote or tender to the officers thereof and offer to vote, a ballot or ballots, any person so offending shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof in any Court of Quarter Sessions of the Commonwealth, shall for each offence be punished in like manner as is provided in the preceding section of this Act, in the case of officers of election receiving such unlawful ballot or ballots.

SEC. 4. That if any person shall hereafter persuade or advise any person or persons deprived of citizenship, and disqualified as aforesaid to offer any ballot or ballots to the officers of any election hereafter to be held in this Commonwealth, such person so offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof in any Court of Quarter Sessions of this Commonwealth, shall be punished in like manner as is provided in the second section of this Act, in the case of officers of such election receiving such unlawful ballot or ballots.

And, further by the first section of the Act of March 30, 1864:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same, That the qualified voters of the several counties of this Commonwealth at all general, township, borough and special elections, are hereby hereafter authorized and required to vote, by tickets printed or written, or partly printed and partly written, severally classified as follows: One ticket shall embrace the names of all judges of courts voted for, and to be labelled, outside, "judiciary;" one ticket shall embrace the names of all state officers voted for, and be labelled "state;" one ticket shall embrace the names of all county officers voted for, including office of senator, member and members of Assembly, if voted for, and members of Congress, if voted for, and be labelled "county;" one ticket shall embrace the names of all township officers voted for, and be labeled "township;" one ticket shall embrace the names of all borough officers voted for, and be labelled "borough," and each class shall be deposited in separate ballot boxes.

And as directed by said 13th section of the Act of July, 1859, I hereby give notice, that every person (excepting Justices of the Peace) who shall hold any office or appointment of profit or trust, under the Government of the United States, or of this State, or of any city, or incorporated district, whether a commissioned officer or otherwise a subordinate officer or agent, who is or shall be employed under the legislative, executive or judiciary department of this State, or of the United States, or of any city or incorporated district, and also that every member of Congress, and of the State Legislature, and of the select or common council of any city, or commissioners of any incorporated district, is by law incapable of holding or exercising at the same time, the office or appointment of Judge, Inspector or Clerk, of any election of this Commonwealth; and that no Inspector, Judge or other officer of any such election shall be eligible to any office to be then voted for.

And further, that by the 4th section of the Act of April 16th, 1840, it is provided, that the aforesaid 13th section of the Act of July 2d, 1839, shall not be so construed as to prevent any militia officer or borough officer from serving as judge, inspector or clerk, at any general or special election in this Commonwealth.

GRAND MASS CONVENTION!

OF THE

Republicans of Western Pennsylvania,

AT PITTSBURGH,

THURSDAY, September 24, 1868.

The Republican State Central Committee has ordered a GRAND MASS CONVENTION to be held in this city on the 24th of September, inst.

The Republicans of Western Pennsylvania are urgently invited to come, en masse, to this Convention, and so help the good cause along.

Arrangements will be made, as far as possible, with the Railroad Companies for Excursion Trains and Tickets to the Convention.

Eminent speakers have been invited, and their names will be announced in due season.

A Grand Torchlight Procession

Will take place on the night before the Convention, and all GRANT CLUBS and TANNERS' CLUBS are invited to take part in it.

A DAYLIGHT PROCESSION

Will form on THURSDAY MORNING, and an invitation is extended to all trades and associations to be represented in it. The various GRANT and TANNER CLUBS will also take part in it, and the Republicans of the county are expected to turn out in full force, in wagons and on horseback.

The Republicans of the various districts of Allegheny county are earnestly urged to make arrangements, at once, for their share in the demonstration.

The Steamboatmen, Firemen, Butchers, Draymen, Moulders, Glass Blowers, Puddlers, Rollers, Machinists, Carpenters, Brick and Stone Masons, and men of every other trade, are invited to consult together and arrange for such part as each may choose to take in the procession.

REPUBLICANS! Let us have a Rally worthy of the days of 1860 and 1864!

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, September 11, 1868.

The gold market is rather dull and drooping. The clique formed last week, when the market was sold down to 144⅛, sold out yesterday, and, consequently, the rates declined. A large amount of cotton is now under way to New York and Liverpool, which gives a plentiful supply of exchange, the tightening up of the money market to remove the large western crops may further influence the premium on gold, and tend to bring down quotations.

Government bonds were strong to-day, but the fall in gold tended to keep down prices; the next week is likely to witness a reaction unless the large shorts begin to cover; a close money market will prevent any further rise in the absence of any investment demand.

The stock market has a drooping tendency although the clique stocks like Nroth Western Common and preferred, and St. Paul and Toledo shares are strong. The street and outsiders are all operating in one direction; selling short whilst the sharp brokers are not selling except what they have covered by contracts, some strong reaction may be looked for during the coming week.

Express shares are dull and nearly unchanged.

Money more stringent and business dull.

Closing quotations as received by Ph. R. Mertz: Gold, 144¼; Eighty-one's, 113¾; Five Twenties, 1862, 113⅞; do, 1864, 109¾; do, 1865, 111⅛; do, 1865, new, 108⅞; do, 1867, 108⅞; do, 1868; 108¾; Ten Forties, 104⅞. Mining shares—Gregory, 4,00; Corydon, 20; Quartz Hill, 93; Smith & Parmalee, 4,25; Quicksilver, 20.

—The debt statement of the 1st instant shows that gold has accumulated in the Treasury, since August 1, to the extent of $9,160,983, raising the total to $92,570,901, of which the Treasury is in the ownership, after providing for the gold certificates of deposits, of above $67,500,000. The sum has been increased, since the statement, a million and a half of dollars or more, by the customs received at New York, over the Ten-Forty gold interest paid out.

—Speaking of the market the Chicago Tribune of Thursday says: There was a good attendance on 'Change to-day, and a little more business transacted, though the day was quiet for the season, and prices ruled uniformly lower on the leading Grains, with a general dull feeling. The scarcity of vessels now in port has made owners stiff in their views, and shippers are holding off for lower rates, which they believe must come within a day or two, as a large fleet of vessels is known to be on the way to this port, and the competition will necessarily bring down the tariff. Only those holding Grain the storage date on which is running out felt like chartering to-day for this reason, and they were very small, while the number of those was still smaller who desired to increase the stock on hand by further purchases to-day, and the markets were left almost entirely in the hands of speculators, who were far from possessing faith enough to keep it up. There was another reson for abstinence from buying—the belief that the bottom has not yet been reached—a belief apparently warranted by the fact that we have a rich harvest, while prices are of the "scarcity" braud, and are not high enough in New York to give extensive shipments a prospect of profit. The arrivals of Grain were lighter to-day, but were more than counterbalanced by the very light shipments reported, and the full receipts already on track for to-morrow's bulletin. The prospects are not diminished for heavy receipts in the future, and the chances are that they will be as large for some time to come as is allowed by the carrying capacities of the great feeding lines to Chicago.

—Closing quotations received by James T. Brady & Co.: Gold, 144¼; United States Sixes, 1881's, 114⅛; 5-20's, 1862, 113¾; 5-20's, 1864, 109¾; 5-20's, 1865, 111⅛; 10-40's, 104¾; 5-20's, January and July, '65, 108¾; 5-20's, January and July, '67 108¾; '68, 108⅞; June 7-30's, par less ¼; July 7-30's, do ¼; August 119; Sept., 119; Oct. 118½; Union Pacific Railroad, 102; Central, 103.

St. Louis Cattle Market.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 12.—Cattle—receipts and offerings large and business fair at 3a6c gross.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, September 11, 1868.

The general markets are quiet and a little dull, and devoid of any new or important features worthy of special notice. Now, that navigation has been resumed, however, we may look for an improvement in general business, particularly in iron, coal and Pittsburgh manufacturers generally.

BUTTER—Is steady but unchanged, with regular sales at 37 to 40c, for prime to choice.

EGGS—May be quoted firm at 22c, and scarce.

CHEESE—Unchanged at 14 to 15c for Western Reserve and Hamburg; 17 to 18c for Factory and Goshen, and 20c for Sweitzer.

APPLES—Are in rather better supply, although the arrivals continue light. We continue to quote at $3 to $4 per bbl.

POTATOES—Unchanged at $1,20 per bushel, and $3,50 per bbl. Sweet Potatoes—none in market.

SEEDS—Small sales of Timothy seed at $3,25 to the trade, and $3.50 to $3,75, in a retail way. Flaxseed—little or none in market, and may be quoted nominally at $2,25 to $2,30. Cloverseed is nominal at $7,50 to $8.

SALT—Is dull and nominally unchanged at $1,75 to $1,80, to the trade, and $2, in a small way.

WHISKY—Market quiet and unchanged. The following are the quotations: Common rectified per gallon $1,25; half rye and half corn per gallon $1,75; old Monongahela rye, two years old, per gallon $2,25; old Monongahela rye, three years old, per gallon, $3,50; highwines per gallon $1,35.

FEATHERS — Sales of live Geese Feathers reported at 90 to 92c.

HAY—Is unchanged, with sales from country wagons reported at $20 to $23 per ton, as to quality.

GRAIN—There is but little doing in Wheat and while the mills are well supplied, there seems to be little or none in the hands of dealers. We continue to quote Red Winter at $2,05 to $2,10 and 3 to 3 cents higher for White. Corn is in demand and higher; we can report 1 car at $1,14; 1 do do at $1.17; and 3 cars prime Yellow at $1,18. Rye is quiet and unchanged at $1,40. Oats steady with sales on track at 65 and 3 to 5 cents higher in store. Barley—none in market, and may be quoted at $1,90 to $2.00.

MILL FEED—Mill prices unchanged at $1,10 for Bran, $1,30 for Shipstuffs, and $2 for Middlings.

LARD OIL—Is unchanged notwithstanding Lard has recently advanced. We continue to quote No. 2 at $1,20 and No. 1 at $1,50

PROVISIONS — Bacon is unchanged at 14¼c to 14¾c for Shoulders; 16½ to 16¾c for Ribbed, and 18¼c to 18¾ for Clear Sides, and 22 to 22¼ for Sugar Cured Hams. Lard 20c for prime kettle rendered in tierces; and 21½, in kegs. Mess Pork $30,50 to $31.

FLOUR—The market is quiet and unchanged; Spring Wheat $9,50 to $10 for new and $10,25 to $10,50 for old. The "Pearl" and "City Mills" continue to quote at $10,50 for Extra Family in bbls and $10,-20 in sacks, and Double Extra at $11 in bbls and $10,70 in sacks. Rye Flour, $9.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTEE, FRIDAY, September 10, 1868.

CRUDE.

The market continues dull and weak, and it would seem that the bottom has not yet been touched. The sales were one thousand barrels, to be delivered on this water, at 11c; 1,000 for October at 11c, and 1,000 for November, at same figure. The above sales, compared with those of yesterday, show a decline of fully half a cent, and at the close, the demand, even at the reduction, was by no means brisk. The prospect of a bulk rise was flattering this evening, thirty-three inches, and rising at Oil City. It is not likely, however, that this will effect the market as formerly, for the reason that the Allegheny Valley Railroad is now delivering oil here about as cheap as it can be brought by boats. Before we were placed in railroad communication with Oil City, whenever there was a rise in the river, oil usually advanced at Oil City, and declined here; but this, to use a common expression, is now "played out."

REFINED.

The Refined market is also dull and weak, and prices continue to decline steadily. There was a sale of 500 bbls each for September and October at 30; and 500 bbls each September to December at the same figure. Later in the day, spot oil was offered at 29 to 29¼, and the last half of September was quoted at 29½ to 29¾, and indeed these figures will apply for almost any delivery during the balance of the year. Our refiners, now that the eastern markets are dull and neglected, are beginning to turn their attention westward, and as navigation has been fairly resumed, it is probable that considerable oil will be shipped to western and southern markets, within the next two or three months. On cars here, standard white may be quoted at 26½ to 27.

IRON AND NAILS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, September 10, 1868.

At a meeting of manufacturers of Iron and Nails held on Thursday, nails were fixed at $5 per keg for from 10 to 6 pennys —¼ and 3 per cent. off for cash within ten days, in lots of 100 kegs and upwards. Iron, 3¾c, card rates, at sixty days—3 per cent. off for cash. This is really no advance, being the rates established last March. This action of the Convention, which was large, and represented by the entire west, was to affirm the March rates, which had not been maintained, and are not remunerative to the manufacturers, the disposition of the Convention being to maintain their trade at the manufacturing points, even at a loss. From present indications, higher prices for iron and nails are likely to prevail before long.

The Pittsburgh Gazette.

EN ROUTE WESTWARD.

[Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 9, 1868.

I wrote last from Alliance. After at early breakfast I took the express train to this city. The first town of any importance is Canton, the county seat of Stark, an old town for Ohio, its settlement dating back over half a century. Full fifty years ago Mr John Saxton, a Pennsylvania printer, commenced the publication of a paper in Canton, which, if I remember correctly, he called the Ohio Repository. He continued its publication for many years. It was a good paper, and did much for this section of Ohio. The old gentleman, now far advanced in life, is still living in Canton. The town has a fine appearance, and don't seem to be lagging behind in the progress of the times.

Massillon, also in Stark county, near the western border, was the next important town we passed through. It is a very progressive place, with a population of from seven to eight thousand. There are two iron smelting furnaces here, which manufacture an average of forty tons of pig metal daily out of ore found in the neighborhood, much of which is Clark band. They use a little Lake Superior ore. There are numerous foundries and agricultural implement manufactories. It is emphatically a manufacturing town, enjoying many advantages; for there is abundance of coal all around, beside iron ore; and it has facilities for transportation by rail and canal; for at this place the Ohio canal crosses the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago railroad. The coal here is of the semi-bituminous kind found in the valleys of the Shenango and Mahoning, and is used now in the blast furnaces.

Mansfield is the next considerable place. Of its population and business I am not able to speak particularly. The Atlantic and Great Western Railroad crosses the P. Ft. W. and C. R. R. at this place. The next is Crestline, 187 miles west of Pittsburgh, an important railroad centre, and nothing else. Here the Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati Railroad crosses our road, while other roads diverge southward and westward.

Some distance east of Crestline we leave what may be called the "hill country" of Ohio—the best and most inviting portion—and enter upon the almost dead level which extends thence all the way across the State of Indiana to Chicago, a distance of about three hundred miles. For more than two hundred miles it is, or was, an uninterrupted heavy forest, except in one place where the road runs through the midst of a prairie of six or eight miles in extent in both directions, perfectly treeless and covered with heavier grass than I ever saw on any other prairie. There is not a single human habitation upon it, or an acre under cultivation. Perhaps it is too wet. It looks like a lake lying in the midst of the dense surrounding forest, some of which looked blue in the distance, as evinced from the car windows. That passed, there is no more pra rie for many miles—not till within eighty miles of this city; thence onward there is more prairie than wood land.

This vast wooded plain has a rich soil; but when the timber is cut away, as it is in many places, the ground is so covered with stumps that it must cost more toil and expense to cultivate it than the produce is worth. It is really a hard region to subdue. Yet the timber is very good, and where it is near the railroad it is valuable for lumber, ties and fuel. But it is a reserve which for a generation or more at least will hold back settlement in Northern Indiana. I never could understand before why it was that Indiana did not go ahead like Illinois. For mile after mile, on some parts of the route through that region, we did not see a single house or field. The country is too flat and too much shaded to be hea thy, and it requires too much time and labor to bring it into a good state of cultivation. Not until the refluent tide of population from the good prairie region beyond sets in will that region be fully subdued.

Here and there at long intervals I observed long swells of geological drift, where, for a few miles, the country rose a little above the monotonous level. These were generally settled, and in some of them towns are laid out and pretty well built up. Sand, gravel and sometimes boulders, compose the soil; and I think I never saw finer or more heavily laden orchards than grow on these swells. Fort Wayne, a flourishing and wid ly extended city, in which they claim to have thirty to thirty-five thousand inhabitants, is on one of these drift swells. The situation is pretty and very ample, and there is every aspect of prosperity. A lady on the car, who resides th re, complained that it is a wicked place. She afterwards remarked that "the butternuts," as she called them, were in the majority in that town. I told her that that accounted for the wickedness of the place. She informed me, per contra, that they had eighteen churches and two colleges.

This road is kept in admirable order and appears to be well and carefully managed; but I would suggest to the Company that they have rather too much trade and travel for a single track. Still I think I never passed over any road with more satisfaction.

We had a vote on the train yesterday morning, which resulted, for Grant, 48; for Seymour, 29. A few declined voting, among whom was a Lebanon county Dutchman who sat just behind me. When the result was announced he remarked, "That's right; Grant ought to be elected." The people all along the road—I mean the Republicans—seem to be fully alive to the importance of the issue. I saw some of our Ohio friends who promise a majority of from 50,000 to 75,000, both in October and November. I travelled with Hon. W. Williams, the representative in Congress of the Tenth district of Indiana, and who is the Republican candidate for re-election. He told me that we may safely count Indiana good for ten to fifteen thousand majority. Illinois, they say, will more than double that. C.

City Park.

MESSRS. EDITORS GAZETTE—If we are to have a driving park, it must be in some way not too expensive, and one that can be enjoyed without being compelled to go four or five miles over a paved road to get into it. It is very evident that ground could not be gotten near the city in any one compact body large enough for such purpose without its costing far more than we could possibly pay, and if even this all-important matter could be gotten over there is no such ground in our neighborhood.

Now we have near Allegheny and also in the surroundings of this city, ground which may be considered valueless, that would make a better park than any large body of land closely connected or nearly square, as it is much pleasanter to drive where you cannot see any park plan, but rather where the ground seems unlimited.

I have driven all over the country within eight or ten miles of the city, and I have now in my eye, ground which ought to be obtained without one cent cost to the community, other than the making of a road.

There is land in ravines just back of Oakland, where the ravine runs to the river, and again where you can branch off and run up a ravine out to near Wilkinsburgh or East Liberty. Suppose, now, we took of this ground a strip two hundred yards wide—just enough to give ornamentation to a wide drive—following the windings of the valleys in any direction they may lead, and making branches by which you drive round the base of a hill and come again into another part of the Park, making the roads connect.

Then let a piece of ground, say twenty or thirty acres, be bought near the entrance and near the line of street cars suitable for a play ground for children. Let the property near the Park that would be benefitted thereby, be assessed to pay for all the ground thus taken, which the surrounding property could easily afford, and we would thus get the ground for nothing. Now if the property-holders are about to complain of such assessment, let us move the Park around where it can be better appreciated. If every ten acres of ground gave one acre, then property now worth five hundred dollars an acre whould have to advance in value to five hundred and fifty dollars to pay for such loss, or property worth one thousand dollars must become worth one thousand and one hundred. Now will any property-holder think that such an improvement would not enhance the value of his property more than ten per cent. I venture to say that the Park would not be laid out, until the holders of property would ask double the present price, indeed I think they could not only afford to give the ground, but make the road also.

The entrance to this Park should be as near as possible to the city, so that drivers could get over the cobble stones as quick as possible. The best way I can think of now would be to open Forbes street, on this side of Soho bridge. Make said street of gravel or Nicolson pavement; cross Soho run and thence up Craft's run to Craft avenue; thence along the back of Mr. Clarke's land, over to the ground back of Oakland; thence by some ornamental and winding road that will lead into the ravine further South.

A good landscape gardener could put this ground into a beautiful Park at but little expense.

Such an improvement would give, not only value to all property, but make our city so much more attractive, that strangers who come here with the thought of making it a home would consider it at least tolerable, and for ourselves it would be a luxury greater than any city improvement we have ever made. As THE political campaign advances it is important that every Republican voter should consider his individual relation to it, and make some effort toward securing the election of GRANT and COLFAX. One efficient mode of doing this is the circulation of good documents; therefore, our readers should place copies of this paper in the hands of their Democratic neighbors, and send to the New York Tribune for the excellent campaign sheets they have issued.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THE APPETITE FOR

Tobacco Destroyed!

Leave off Chewing and Smoking the Poisonous Weed, Tobacco.

One box of ORTON'S PREPARATION IS WARRANTED to destroy the appetite for tobacco in any person, no matter how strong the habit may be, REFUNDED. It is almost impossible to break off from the use of tobacco by the mere exercise of the will. Something is needed to assist nature in overcoming a habit so firmly rooted; with the help of the preparation there is not the least trouble. Hundreds have used it who are willing to bear witness to the fact that ORTON'S PREPARATION completely destroys the appetite for tobacco and leaves the person as free from any desire for it as before he commenced its use. It is perfectly safe and harmless in all cases. The Preparation acts directly upon the same glands and secretions affected by tobacco, and through these upon the blood, thoroughly cleansing the poison of tobacco from the system, and thus allaying the unnatural cravings of tobacco.

NO MORE HANKERING FOR TOBACCO AFTER USING ORTON'S PREPARATION! RECOLLECT IT IS WARRANTED. BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS!

RECOMMENDATIONS.

The following are a few selected from the multitude of recommendations in our possession:

[From W. P. Heald, Esq., Bangor, Me.]

BANGOR, Me., April 24, 1868.

I hereby certify that I have used tobacco for thirty years past, and for the last fifteen years I have used two pounds per month. I have made attempts to leave off at different times. I have left off one year at a time, but always continued to hanker for it until I used Orton's Preparation, which has completely cured me of the appetite for tobacco. I would recommend all who are affected with this terrible habit to try the preparation, which will certainly cure it if the directions are followed.

W. P. HEALD.

[From E. W. Adkins, Knoxville, Tenn.]

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., August 5, 1867.

This is to certify that I had used tobacco to such an extent that my health had become greatly impaired, and my whole system deranged and broken down. In June, 1867, I purchased one box of Orton's Preparation, and after using it I found that I was completely cured. I have not had any hankering or desire for tobacco since using the preparation. I believe it to be all that it is recommended, and I would advise all who wish to quit the use of tobacco to try one box of Orton's Preparation.

E. W. ADKINS.

[From John Morrill, Bangor, Me.]

BANGOR, Me., March 24, 1868.

This is to certify that I have used tobacco for eighteen years; have tried many times to leave off, but have suffered so much from a dizziness in my head, and gnawing at my stomach, that I have soon given up the trial. A short time since a friend induced me to try Orton's Preparation (sold by you.) I have done so, and am completely cured. I did not in the least hanker after tobacco, either to smoke or chew, after I began to use the Preparation.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

Daily Prayer Meeting—From 12 M. to 12:30 o'clock at the Rooms of the Christian Association, No. 23 Fifth street.

Route for Sale.—A good route, with over 400 subscribers, in Allegheny City, on this paper. For particulars enquire at this office.

New Water Pipe.—A new water pipe has been laid along Washington to Wylie street, under the supervision of Street Commissioner McFadden.

Night Schools.—Preparations are being made to open the Allegheny night schools on Monday, September 21. Those interested should bear this in mind.

Fell From a Building.—A workman named John Mercer fell from a building on Eighteenth street yesterday morning, sustaining, however, but slight injuries.

Postoffice Sales.—The Allegheny Postoffice Department, during the month of August, sold nearly $1,500 worth of postage stamps, and over $250 worth of envelopes.

New Boiler.—A new boiler to be used in generating steam for the heating apparatus in the County jail, will take the place of the old one, which was removed yesterday morning.

The City Republican Executive Committee will meet on next Monday, 14th inst., in the Common Council Chamber, at three o'clock P. M. A full attendance of the members is desired. 2

Open Air Meeting.—To-morrow (Sunday) afternoon, at a quarter past four P. M., there will be an open air meeting held under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association, at the Cemetery gate, Lawrenceville.

Tore Down a Spout.—Jas. Patterson alleges that Mary McAteer tore down a tin spout from in front of his house, which he considers mischief of a malicious character. A warrant was issued for the arrest of Mary by Alderman Taylor.

A Proposition.—The typos of the Mail, recognizing the matchless superiority of their brethren of the Chronicle at the noble game, Base Ball, desire to be "counted in" on any other little game with which all are acquainted—"Mumble Peg" for instance.

A Full Load.—The Cincinnati express train from the East came into the Union Depot yesterday morning with four hundred passengers on board. This is the largest number of passengers arriving at the depot on any single train during the year.

Base Ball.—Should the weather be favorable, the Atlantics of the Twelfth ward and the Olympics of Allegheny, both first class Base Ball Clubs, will play a match game for the championship of Western Pennsylvania in Union Park, to-day at three o'clock.

Tent Preaching.—To-morrow (Sunday) afternoon, at a quarter past four o'clock, there will be services held in the "Tent," under the auspices of the Young Mens' Christian Association, at the corner of Beaver avenue and Juniata street, Sixth ward, Allegheny, formerly Manchester.

Took a Wagon Wheel.—James Lang, a wagon-maker, whose shop is located on Virgin alley, alleges that a certain Edward McGann did take, steal and carry away from his premises one wagon wheel, valued at $3,75. Alderman McMasters issued a warrant for the arrest of Edward on a charge of larceny.

Railroad Obstructed.—There were two land slides on the Panhandle Railroad yesterday, one near the Birmingham end of the railroad bridge and the other at Hanlon station. The obstructions were cleared away in the afternoon sufficiently to allow the passage of trains, which are running regularly to-day.

Severe Accident.—Mr. Cartwright, of the firm of Stevenson & Co., tinners, Federal street, Allegheny, met with a severe accident in Fayette county a day or two since by being thrown from a buggy and having his leg fractured. He was brought to his home yesterday and is receiving medical attention.

Assault and Battery.—Alvis Heiderker made information before Justice Ammon yesterday, charging John Tilk with assault and battery. He alleges that the accused committed an assault and battery upon his (the prosecutor's) son, by catching him by the ears and throwing him off the sidewalk. A warrant was issued.

Valedictory.—Rev. S. F. Crowther, the beloved and justly appreciated pastor of the Second Methodist Church, Allegheny, who has accepted a call to New Brighton, Pa., will preach his valedictory sermon to-morrow morning. This gentleman has surrounded himself with hosts of friends in this community who are sorry to have him removed to other fields of labor.

Burglary Frustrated.—An attempt was made at an early hour yesterday morning to force an entrance into Thompson & Groetzinger's dry goods store, corner of Federal and Water streets, Allegheny. The police detected the burglar at work and endeavored to arrest him, but the fellow becoming aware of their approach, made off as fast as possible and eluded arrest.

Is you would enjoy a fragrant Havana or delicious Cuba cigar drop in at John Megraw's headquarters for tobacco, snuff and cigars, No. 54 Hand street. No where else in the city can you be better pleased, for no where else is the stock larger or finer. A full line of cigar tubes and meerschaum pipes, of the best quality, at most reasonable prices. Dealers who buy to sell again dealt with liberally.

A Violent Brother.—Mary A. Garritz appeared before Jnutice Ammon yesterday, and lodged a complaint against her brother, John Garrits, charging him with assault and battery. She alleges that John is a violent man and that he struck her on the head with a lump of coal and threatened to kill her, for which an information was also made for surety of the peace. A warrant was issued for the arrest of John.

Abandonment.—Bridget Welsh made information yesterday against Wm. Welsh, her husband, charging him with abandonment and desertion. Bridget says her liege-lord, after being away for about three years, has returned to this city, but not to the bosom of his family, whom he refuses to live with or support. Bridget resides in Strawberry alley, Third ward. A warrant was issued for the arrest of the delinquent.

Fond of Music.—Dominec Reed is very fond of music, if the statement of Frank Wassel can be relied on. Frank says that Dominec's passion for music led him to appropriate his accordeon, valued at six dollars. The defendant resides on Bedford street, and officer Ball of Alderman Taylor's police was dispatched thither yesterday to bring the alleged offender to an investigation of the matter before the Alderman.

Surety.—Adolphus Heilhouse made information yesterday, before Alderman McMasters, against Joseph Tyler for surety of the peace. The prosecutor alleges that the defendant used very violent threats against him, which he fears may be put into practice. The same prosecutor also alleges that John Raum shook his fist at him and made use of violent and profane language toward him. Warrants were issued in both cases.

THE COURTS.

United States District Court.

[Before Judge McCandless.]

In the case of the United States vs. Edward Eichenlaub, charged with illicit distilling, the District Attorney declined to press a conviction, and the jury, under the charge of the Court, found a verdict of not guilty.

On motion of General McCalmont, Christopher W. Smith, Esq., of Venango county, was duly qualified and admitted to practice at the bar of this Court.

On motion, the distillery of Henderson & Rank, under seizure, was released upon bond being filed.

The case of Buckley, Sheldon & Co., vs. Wm. H. Carle, of Venango county, was then taken up. This was an issue in bankruptcy, joined with a view of forcing the respondent into bankruptcy. General A. B. McCalmont appeared for the petitioning creditors, and Hon. S. A. Purviance and W. McNair, Esq., for the respondent. The case has not been concluded.

In the bankruptcy branch petitions for final discharge were filed by George E. Humphries, of Bedford county; Geo. Taylor, of Fayette county; Gillespie & Mitchell, of Allegheny county.

In the matter of Wm. Shea, against whom a petition in bankruptcy had been filed, upon motion, the Court allowed proceedings to be discontinued.

In the matter of the petition of L. Graham, creditor, vs. Joseph P. Haight, debtor, the respondent denied the alleged acts of bankruptcy, and demanded a trial by jury. The Court ordered the case to be submitted to a jury at the October term.

Court of Quarter Sessions.

[Before Judge Sterrett.]

VERDICT RENDERED.

In the case of Jeremiah Stilley, Jr., indicted for misdemeanor in unlawfully and maliciously burning the barn and stable of Mr. Risher, on Streets Run, in Baldwin township, the jury found a verdict of not guilty, the prosecutor and defendant each to pay one-half the costs.

ASSAULT ON THE STREET.

Leonard Schimer alias Buck, of 5th ward, was tried on an indictment charging him with committing an assault and battery on Mitchell Daud, a resident of Lawrenceville. It appeared the prosecutor, while walking along Penn street, June 30th, was accosted by the defendant, an entire stranger to him. Defendant desired prosecutor to "treat," and this being refused, he asked "Where are you going?" "To prayer meeting," replied the prosecutor. The next inquiry was "where did you get that coat?" to which the reply was, "I don't think that any of your business." Defendant then squirted a mouthful of tobacco juice on prosecutor's fine linen coat, and followed this assault with a battery, kicking the prosecutor severely in his rear part. The jury found a verdict of guilty, and defendant was sentenced to pay a fine of twenty-five dollars and costs.

FRACAS IN A SALOON.

William Shore and William Richardson were placed on trial on an indictment for aggravated assault and battery on Luzian Abel, committed in the saloon of Joseph Lofink, on Fulton street, on the night of the 18th of April last. It appeared that a disturbance was created in the saloon, the proprietor refusing additional "drinks" when called for. During the row the prosecutor, a boarder in the house, was assaulted and very seriously injured, whilst taking the part of the saloon keeper, upon whom a combined attack had been made. The testimony was somewhat conflicting, witnesses for the Commonwealth testifying that the defendants struck and abused the prosecutor, and witnesses for the defense testifying to the contrary. Colonel Duff, District Attorney, asked the Court to charge the jury, upon the assumption (which appeared to be the fact) that there was a general fight in the bar-room, that the defendants, having taken part with others against the saloon-keeper, should be held responsible, whether or not it had been established that they inflicted the injuries on the prosecutor. W. C. Moreland, Esq., contended that before the Court could properly so charge the jury, it being uncertain who inflicted the injuries, it must appear that those guilty of the violence were of the party or crowd to which the defendants belonged, and of which they appeared to be the leaders. Colonel Duff thought this fact had been fully established.

The Court charged that the testimony for the Commonwealth indicated that the defendants commenced an attack upon the proprietor of the saloon, in which they were assisted by those who had entered the saloon with them, and that the prosecutor was injured by one of the parties thus acting in concert while he was acting the part of a friend to the saloon-keeper. If the jury so believed, all of the attacking party were principals, and the defendants should at least be convicted of simple assault and battery.

The jury found a verdict of guilty of assault and battery. Sentence deferred.

A LIQUOR CASE.

Patrick McGrady was arraigned on indictments for selling liquor without license and for furnishing liquor to minors, found on the return of George Evans, Constable of Pitt township, in which district defendant's house was situated. It appeared that defendant had an eating-house license, which authorized him to sell malt liquors only, but it was alleged that he had sold spirituous liquors. John Robinson, a minor, and Nelson Irwin, of age, testified to having obtained intoxicating drinks (ale and whisky,) in July, 1867, from defendant, and that George Evans, a minor, (son of the returning Constable,) was with them and took a drink.

Thomas Howard, Esq., for the defense, urged an acquittal on the charge of selling to minors, for the reason that the defendant might not have known the age of the boys, and from their appearance might have judged them to have been of lawful age. Col. Duff suggested this argument might hold good under the old law, when it was required, in order to convict, that the party charged "willfully" furnished the liquor. In the new law (passed March, 1867,) the word "willfully" was omitted. Mr. Howard said he was not aware it had became lawful to convict men of crime without considering the elenent of intention. Judge Sterrett remarked the new law had been so construed first by Judge Stowe, Judge Mellon had assented, and he (Judge Sterrett) did not feel disposed to differ.

The jury found a verdict of guilty on both indictments. Sentence deferred.

MOTION TO QUASH.

In the case of the Commonwealth vs. Thomas Diger and James Parker, indicted for robbery, on oath of William Prenty, counsel for defense, R. S. Morrison, Esq., moved to quash the indictment on the ground that it was drawn "in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of the Peace," that is to say, in two Courts, whereas only the Oyer and Terminer had jurisdiction. The Court thought the motion well taken. Argument deferred and case put over.

ASSAULT WITH A KNIFE.

Edward Smith, colored, was indicted for felonious assault and battery. Henry Shutz, tavern keeper at No. 20 Market street, testified that on June 19th defendant, three other colored men, and one white man came into his saloon; the white man called "the drinks;" after drinking the white man said he had only twenty cents; defendant said he had plenty of money, and threw a "quarter" on the counter; witness said the "quarter" and twenty cents offered by the white man would answer, the "drinks" amounting to forty-five cents. Defendant took back the "quarter," and three of the colored men passed out of the saloon, leaving the defendant behind; witness came to the front of the bar, laid his hand upon defendant's shoulder, and said "you stay here until the drinks are paid." Defendant then drew a pocket-knife and stabbed witness in the nose, almost severing it, and then ran away. The statement of the prosecutor was corroborated by his son, aged sixteen, who was present at the time. The defense offered was good character. The jury found the defendant not guilty of the felony charged, but that he was guilty of a misdemeanor in unlawfully cutting and wounding the prosecutor. Sentence deferred.

UNLAWFUL PROCEEDING BY AN ALDERMAN.

C. A. Robinson, a citizen of Cleveland, Ohio, was brought into Court from prison, and his discharge from custody asked for by J. H. Miller, Esq. It appeared that he had been committed, on oath of Peter Bolster, by Alderman D. M. Mullen, of Allegheny, for a further hearing next Monday, on a charge of peddling without license, having been unable to give bail in the sum of $300. Mr. Miller stated that the prosener was engaged in peddling soap, manufactured in the State of New York, and had taken out a United States license at Cleveland. This license did not protect him in this State, except so far as the United States was concerned, as it was necessary he should take out a State license; but the proceeding by Alderman Mullen was entirely wrong. The prisoner had rendered himself liable to the penalty of fifty dollars, recoverable only in a civil action. The Court immediately ordered the release of the prisoner, and consequently the "further hearing" arrangement of the Alderman has been interfered with.

Fall and Winter Dry Goods.—New fall and winter goods in endless variety are now arriving at Bates & Bell's, No. 21 Fifth street. Ladies will find many new novelties to please and delight them in the way of dress goods, shawls and sacques. Call in and see for yourselves. The entire stock of summer goods is being closed out at most reasonable prices.

Allegheny City readers need not be told that at McBride & George's Original Diamond Front Grocery and Tea Store, No. 164 Federal street, they can procure the choicest articles in the way of fresh groceries, spices, teas, provisions, coffees, &c. This firm do a large wholesale and retail trade, and are always up to the requirements of the market. Their prices are as low as elsewhere in either city.

Col. J. D. Eagan, No. 46 Sixth street, has on hand all the standard law, medical and literary works of English and American authors. Scholars and others in search of rare books out of print should look over the stock held at this favorite depot. A full line of legal and epistolary stationery on hand at very reasonable prices.

FALL TRADE.

The House of Macrum, Glyde & Co., Nos. 78 and 80 Market Street.

Inasmuch as the Fall trade has opened and our city is rapidly filling up with dealers from the neighboring districts to supply themselves with fresh stocks of goods, we feel that a few words about an old and prosperous business house will not be out of order. Prominent among the Trimming and Notion firms of the city, those that control the larger portions of the jobbing and wholesale as well as retail patronage, stands the extensive and well conducted house of Macrum, Glyde & Co., Nos. 78 and 80 Market street. The history of this establishment is known to most all, and illustrates how wise it is to favorably and satisfactorily deal with the public, for out of this system of business, without a single departure from it, Messrs. Macrum, Glyde & Co., have built up for themselves a trade which, in round figures, is enormous. They have been in operation but a little longer than three years, and yet they have a large patronage built up, which adheres rigidly to them and with each returning year largely increases. That their gross sales swell larger each season, notwithstanding prices have materially declined and many more goods must be turned to count in figures than heretofore, is the best evidence to which we can point of the popularity of the house and its satisfactory method and manner of transacting trade. The members now comprising the firm (Mr. Richard Glyde being deceased) are Messrs. D. S. Macrum and Calvin Hagan. Both of these gentlemen had thorough experience and training in every department of the business before entering into proprietorship, and being thoroughly acquainted with the wants of the trade in this neighborhood and requirements of retail patrons, they always kept just such stocks as make their store popular and inviting. Again, they have been content with reasonable margins for profits, and having superior facilities for purchasing, are enabled to afford their patrons superior inducements.

PREPARING FOR THE FALL TRADE.

Acting on the idea which most of our leading merchants and manufactures entertain, that the incoming fall and winter seasons will be marked by a large and prosperous trade, Messrs. Macrum, Glyde & Co. have made ample preparations for its transaction. They have laid in an immense stock, embracing all the new novelties which have appeared in the Eastern markets, both of foreign and domestic goods, it being their desire to offer as admirable selection and quantity at as reasonable prices to their patrons as can be obtained in the metropolitan cities. There is no good reason why merchants should direct their orders away from Pittsburgh, while they can do better and save money by purchasing at such houses as Macrum, Glyde & Co. at home.

THE DEPARTMENTS.

It is a task much above our ability to describe with anything like fidelity the goods in all sizes, shapes and forms which go to make up a wholesale and retail trimming and notion stock, but we may be able to give the reader some idea of the immensity and variety. In the basement on our visit yesterday we found two large and well lighted dry salesrooms, where goods are received by a trans-railway from the street, and where likewise all the packing and shipping of the firm is attended to. We found the principal departments of the basement occupied with original packages of country knitting yarns, Germantown wools, fine Cashmere yarns, hosiery of all kinds for fall and winter wear, corsets, spool cotton, &c. Of yarns the firm make a specialty, and have sold already this season five thousand pounds. Some very pretty new styles of Balmoral hosiery for ladies and children have been introduced this season, and are quite handsome and attractive. We found a splendid assortment of hand knit fine zephyr goods on hand, which, while comfortable to wear, make very fine and rich articles of apparel. The main retail salesroom, which occupies the ground floor of both buildings, is light and airy, and sufficiently commodious for the accommodation of any number of lady shoppers. The goods are kept in various departments, so that customers in the habit of shopping there know just where to apply for any article they may need. The departments are about as follows, starting from the right as you enter and running around the house: The notion department, where are kept the thousand and one articles of use, beauty and adornment, which enter into the category of notions; next the lace and embroidery department, where a great deal of money is stored in the way of valuable goods, such as fine English thread, Cluny, Mattese, Point and Aplique laces, berthas, collars, coiffeurs, and lace illusions, Jaconet and Hamburg edgings, insertings, rich embroideries, etc. Next is the general dress trimming department, where all those articles so familiar to our wives and daughters are kept, including velvet ribbons of all sizes. The next is an important department in the keeping of ladies exclusively. It is the ladies' furnishing and corset department. Here will be found all descriptions of under-garments for ladies in various styles and qualities. This is a feature of the house only equalled by the gents' furnishing department, which is kept always up to the requirements of patrons. No where else in the city will be found a larger assortment of dress and travelling shirts, underclothing, collars, cuffs, suspenders, neck ties, scarfs, sleeve buttons, &c., &c. The hosiery department is always well supplied with hose for ladies and children, gloves of all sizes, qualities and materials. A special retail department is assigned to yarns and zephyrs. Of these goods the firm always keep a finely assorted stock, which cannot fail to please the trade. There are other lines of goods kept in the retail floor, such as umbrellas, ladies' travelling caboses or hand valises, perfumery, jewelry, buttons and goods; but it would be a matter of impossibility to enumerate all articles kept in a notion or trimming establishment of such extensive character.

THE WHOLESALE DEPARTMENTS.

In addition to the basement floors, the wholesale and jobbing trade of this house takes up all of the second and third floors of the buildings occupied by the firm. In these rooms the visitor finds an endless assortment of goods suitable for stocking country stores. Like the retail department, the goods are kept systematically arranged, and patrons know just where to go for any article they may want. Hoop skirts, white goods, trimmings, balmorals, woolen goods, hosiery, gloves and notions all occupy separate apartments, and the selection will be found splendid. Of balmorals the firm have very elegant novelties on hand, just introduced by Thomas Dolan, the great Germantown manufacturer, which will commend themselves to the trade.

Messrs. Macrum, Glyde & Co. do a large share of the wholesale business in their line, and strive constantly to meet it by competing with eastern houses, both in regard to stock and prices. In concluding our notice of this representative house we should add that it has been its particular feature to always have in employ a full force of clever and accommodating salesmen and lady clerks, with whom it is a pleasure to deal.

Our friends in making up their orders for Fall and Winter, or about to visit the city to make their purchases, are earnestly recommended to keep the house of Macrum, Glyde & Co. in view, for they can purchase no where to better advantage, or be more certain of receiving generous treatment.

Where to Get Bargains.

By reference to advertisement in another column it will be seen that H. B. Smithson & Co., 55 and 57 Fifth street, are offering immense bargains in ladies' misses' and children's, gents', boys' and youth's boots, shoes, balmorals, gaiters, slippers, brogans, &c., &c. Mr. Smithson is a gentleman who fully understands the wants of the community, and when he promises to give bargains he does it. Their goods will be sold at private sale at an absolute sacrifice, and retail dealers, especially from the country, will find this a rare opportunity to secure bargains in replenishing their stock. The goods are of the very best quality, and all those who wish to purchase should, by all means, call at Nos. 55 and 57 Fifth street, where they will find gentlemanly and attentive salesmen, who will deal with them in the most satisfactory manner. For full particulars see advertisement.

Bivalvular.

Many weary ones are rejeiced now at the return of the oyster season. Every human being almost is a lover of the delicious bivalve, and is eager for the return of the season which brings the return of the privilege of eating "raws," "stews," &c. The deliciousness of them is never so fully appreciated, or appreciated with such unalloyed delicacy of taste as when they are first made available after the dearth of the summer months. Nowhere else can this enjoyment be more fully attained than at the widely known and universally popular dining saloon kept by Holtzheimer, next the Postoffice, on Fifth avenue. All the other delicacies of the season are to be obtained there at their best estate.

GEO. BEAVEN.

Most Bitters of the present day that are loudly puffed through the newspapers as having great curative properties are vile compounds and base impositions, containing no medicinal virtues whatever, and are really very poor whisky beverages, and, instead of acting as a stimulant and tonic, have a tendency to weaken the stomach by entirely destroying the coating. The public should therefore be very cautious and purchase none but Roback's Stomach Bitters, which have stood the test as a remedial agent for many years, and are really as their name indicates, a stomach bitters and not a beverage. They combine the properties of the best tonic and a stimulant—a laxative, an efficient and anti-bilious agent and the best stomachic known to the world, and when taken in conjunction with Roback's Blood Pills, are the safest and surest preventive against all bilious derangements, thoroughly regulating the whole system and giving tone to the digestive organs.

They are highly recommended as an invigorating tonic to mothers while nursing, increasing the flow of milk, and for convalescents, to restore the prostration which always follows long-continued sickness, they are unsurpassed. No household should consider themselves safe from the ordinary maladies without these invaluable medicines. They can be obtained of any druggist. TTSF

A Public Speaker made a good hit at a Birmingham meeting the other night in suggesting that the Freedmen's Bureau wasn't half so good for keeping clothing as one of the trunks turned out by the Premium Trunk Factory of Joseph Liebler, No. 104 Wood street. Politicians may be divided as to the good qualities of the Freedmen's Bureau, but they all agree that Liebler's trunks are eminently worthy the fame they enjoy. Call in and satisfy yourself on this point.
